AN HYPNOTIC TEST.

A Cleveland Man Kept Dormant for a Week.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

CLEVELAND (O.,) July 8.—A week ago a hypnotist named Santonelli secured the consent of the parents of Harmon Leonard, living in Ravenna, to attempt a seven days' test, during which all the physical functions except the action of the heart were to be entirely suspended.

During an ordinary seance on June 30 Leonard was compelled by Santonelli to leave the auditorium in which he was exhibiting and go to a tent that had been erected near by and lie down and sleep. Leonard obeyed. The tent in which he lay has been open to visitors every day since. At night the subject was guarded by a young companion who refused to leave him. When he was asleep his pulse was 84. This was reduced by hypnotism to 64, and on the following day to 54 and then to 44. It afterward rose to about 50 and remained at about that point till just before he was awakened.

During this time young Leonard has not had his clothing changed, and has not left his couch, except as he was ordered to "stiffen out," so that he could be raised by attendants and photographed a day or two ago. His guards are willing to make oath that he has remained without food or stimulant and that his physical functions have been dormant all this time.

Leonard was taken out of the trance by Santonelli in the presence of a large crowd last evening. His pulse had risen to 120, but fell to about 90 soon after. He expressed ignorance of the fact that he had been asleep, and supposed the crowd about him was the one he had left a week before. Two doctors who attended him manifested the greatest interest in the result of the experiment, claiming that in the case of gunshot wounds in the abdomen, when a suspension of the functions would assist recovery, hypnotism would be of vital importance. Santonelli proposes to make a two weeks' test under the supervision of physicians in a few weeks.

NOT UP TO IT.

Capt. Sadie Lennon Tackles a Three-card Monte Game.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

BUTTE (Mont.,) July 8.—Pretty Sadie Lennon, who bears the rank and title of captain of the Butte Salvation Army, had an unusual experience last night while selling "War Crys" in the lower part of the city.

In a barbershop on East Park street she met C. W. Spencer, a noted ex-gambler. When she offered him a "War Cry" he proposed that if she could pick the king of diamonds from three cards he laid on the table he would buy half a dozen papers, and if she failed she should give him a paper.

The captain had never run against a three-card game before, and readily fell into the scheme, but the elusive king could not be found, although Spencer turned the corners up and marked the back of the card for her. The cards shifted so rapidly, however, that the captain became bewildered, and when she had lost all her papers, over two hundred, she began to cry. Spencer then bought what he had won and sent the captain away smiling.

Mora's Daughter-in-law Elopes.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A morning paper says that Mrs. Dolores Mora, daughter-in-law of Antonio Maximo Mora, whose claim for $2,000,000 against Spain for the confiscation of his Cuban sugar plantation is a well-known international question, has left her husband and family under circumstances that suggest an elopement. The man in the case is supposed to be Prof. Adolph Peterson, music teacher in St. John's College, Fordham and organist of the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Mercy in Webster avenue.

PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED.

The Queen Signs a Proclamation to That Effect.

LONDON, July 8.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Marquis of Salisbury, Baron Halsbury, the Lord High Chancellor and the Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, attended a meeting of the Privy Council at Windsor Castle this afternoon and ordered writs to issue for general elections.

The lists issued this evening show that there are 118 seats without Liberal candidates, and twenty without Union candidates.

The bulk of the provincial elections will take place on Saturday next and the elections in London will occur on Monday. The lists issued this evening show that there are 118 seats without Liberal candidates and twenty without Unionist candidates.

DISSOLUTION IN CANADA.

MONTREAL, July 8.—It is stated freely by members of the Parliament who know that the dissolution of the Dominion Parliament is near at hand, that the French members have for some days been ready with a vote of censure on the government for their inaction in regard to the Manitoba school question, but the Liberal English members refused to support it. Mackenzie Bowell is to resign shortly and Hon. John Haggart, it is said, will be the coming Premier.

A FLYING MACHINE.

The Army Signal Service Has Decided to Build One.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The officials of the Army Signal Service have practically decided to build a flying machine. Its construction will probably be under the supervision of Capt. Glassford, who, under Gen. Greeley, Chief Signal Officer, has been carrying on extensive experiments in military ballooning for the last three years.

Capt. Glassford is making preparations to construct an apparatus which will actually carry a man. The mechanism to be used is what is known as the soaring apparatus, the only kind of flying machine on the aeroplane order which has actually succeeded in transporting a man in the free air. Capt. Glassford is an enthusiast, both as to the future of his balloon experiments and the accomplishment of mechanical flight by means of an aeroplane.

DISBANDED.

Fate of an Arizona Militia Company That Followed Wheels.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

DENVER, July 8.—A special to the Republican from Phoenix, Ariz., says that Adjt.-Gen. Schwartz of the National Guard of Arizona tomorrow will issue an order disbanding a company of the First Infantry, stationed at Tucson. A general court-martial has been ordered upon the officers and the non-commissioned officers, who, prior to dishonorable discharge, have been reduced to the ranks.

The company has been known as the Mexican company of the regiment, being mainly composed of Spanish-speaking citizens. Its offense consisted in leaving the parade on the Fourth of July, preferring to appear in the line of march of a bicycle club. An order will at once be issued at headquarters, forbidding the enlistment of any person who cannot speak and read and write the English language.

Chief Clarence Going to England.

COLON (Colombia,) July 8.—It is stated here that ex-Chief Clarence, formerly of the Mosquito Territory and now a British pensioner at Kingston, Jamaica, is going to England in order to formulate his claims against the government of Nicaragua.

A WIDE SWEEP

Ruin Wrought By Sunday's Storm.

From the Rockies to Iowa and to Texas.

Many People Killed and a Property Loss Reaching into Millions.

Winona, Mo., Suffers Most by the Cyclonic Visitation—Full Reports of the Horror Are Still Lacking.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

MILWAUKEE, July 8.—As a result of last night's storm the only reliable means of quick communication this morning was the long-distance telephone. Western Union lines, as well as those of the Postal and Chicago and Milwaukee Telegraph Company, were prostrated to such an extent that, aside from the telephone, railroad trains were the best substitute available to move the accumulation of commercial messages and press dispatches.

From about 6 o'clock Sunday all through the night and well into the business day Monday, the telegraph officials seemed utterly helpless to straighten out the confusion and wreck. So apparently inextricable was the tangle of matters offered the Western Union at outside points for Milwaukee and other points north, that messages were returned to senders, owing to the prostration of the wires.

The failure of the telegraph wires between Milwaukee and Chicago had the effect of developing quickly a method of transmitting press matter by wire that is new in the West. Typewriter operators with telephone receivers at their ears were seated in newspaper offices at Milwaukee, and news was talked to them from Chicago at a rate of eighty words a minute.

A KANSAS TORNADO.

CHETOPA (Kan.,) July 8.—Last evening a tornado swept over this region, doing considerable damage to growing crops and to buildings.

A WIDE SWEEP.

KANSAS CITY, July 8.—The reports of storms during the past three days show that the entire eastern watershed of the Rocky Mountains to the Nebraska and Iowa lines and to Texas was swept Friday night by a severe blow. Fields of grain that promised the most bountiful yield in many years were swept bare of vegetation. The seas of rain were abetted in the work of destruction by tornadoes. It is too early yet to sum up the loss, but the total is appalling and those to whom the angry elements spared life have little left to sustain it. The stories of the storm are so similar that a statistical summary is all that there is left to tell.

The storm was furious and embraced an area of 200 square miles, with the southwestern corner of Missouri as the center.

The greatest loss of life is reported from Winona, Mo., where eleven corpses have been found, with as many more missing. At Baxter Springs, in Southwestern Kansas, five were killed and eleven seriously injured by the cyclone that accompanied the storm. One person was drowned at Columbus and two at Ottawa, Kan. At Van Buren, Ark., a mother and babe were drowned. A family of five were encamped on the banks of Fish Creek, I. T. Nothing of them or their belongings was found, except a part of a wagon on a pile of drift wood. At Thomasville, Mo., where the rainfall was four inches in one hour, five persons were lost.

Confirmed reports of the loss of life are as follows: Three at Fayetteville, Ark.; one at Paola, Kan.; one at Richards, Kan.; six of a hunting party in Indian Territory. This gives the known and probable loss as forty-three lives. This total will be increased when receding waters permit a thorough search. The loss to property can be placed in millions. Dwellings, fences and farm buildings were carried off, and highway and railroad bridges swept away. Thirty of eighty buildings in Winona succumbed; five residences, a church and a warehouse went down at Baxter Springs. Six bridges went out in Russell county. About Jefferson City, Mo., many square miles of growing grain were destroyed. The traffic on the Fort Scott and Memphis Railroad is temporarily suspended.

Reports of damage to property, other than above noted, come from five points in Kansas, nine in Missouri, six in Arkansas and two in the Indian Territory. The storm spent itself in Illinois, but having lost its force proved a blessing to the crops. The above summaries are only a fraction of the loss of property. The greatest burden falls upon the farmers. The season is too far spent to plant new crops. The country's granary has been cleaned out. Details of individual suffering and rough experiences would fill volumes and repeat the horrors of the Johnstown disaster.

AT INDEPENDENCE, KAN.

INDEPENDENCE (Kan.,) July 8.—A severe rain and windstorm visited this section last night. Streams are rising rapidly. The wind blew down many trees and outbuildings and took the roof off the new mill. At Neodesha several buildings blew over.

HOUSES BLOWN DOWN.

TOPEKA (Kan.,) July 8.—The Rock Island Railroad Company reports a heavy windstorm at Canton, McPherson county, yesterday afternoon. A dozen houses were blown down. No fatalities are reported.

A PART OF THE HORRORS.

CHICAGO, July 8.—The reports of a flood at Winona, Mo., published heretofore are now known to have told only part of the horrors of the disaster. Owing to the fact that Winona is in a mountain region, almost inaccessible by wagon and that the railway is washed away, news of the flood is hard to obtain. Railway connection will be established this afternoon by running a train on either end of the Current-River branch of the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis road, but it will be several days before the gap can be closed up in the road.

Several officials of the railway and other parties left for Winona on a special train this morning to render all assistance possible to the flood-stricken people. The bodies of Rev. G. W. Duncan and daughter Mattie and Miss Norma Nevins were found under a large drift of broken timbers about a mile below Winona; also the body of an unknown man stopping at one of the hotels. A terrible stench arises from a mass of hogs, horses, cattle and other animals drowned. It is charged that some visitors are stripping the bodies of everything of value.

For several miles below Winona may be seen wagons and household goods of all kinds and dead animals. Over 200 people were searching yesterday for bodies. The body of George Evans's daughter was found this forenoon. The body of Lloyd Wright's daughter is still missing. Late news from Thomasville, Oregon county, shows that, while great damage was done, there was no loss of life.

RAINED "LIKE LIGHTNING."

FREDONIA (Kan.,) July 8.—A lightning rainstorm, accompanied by high wind passed over this locality, extending three miles north, yesterday at 3 o'clock. In forty minutes fully four inches of water fell, washing away the sidewalks. At La Fontaine, Kan., the residence of R. Giles was blown off the foundation. At New Albany, Kan., the roof of the brick schoolhouse was blown away, damaging the building to the amount of $10,000. Christian Church, in course of construction, was leveled.

The family of John Cox, husband, wife and seven children, while crossing a small stream, were thrown into the water, but fortunately managed to reach a landing.

IN INDIAN TERRITORY.

FORT WORTH (Tex.,) July 8.—A report was received here today giving meager details of a cyclone at Chickasha, I. T., last night about 9 o'clock. Several buildings were blown down, among which were the Rock Island freight depot and a large grist-mill near by. The storm passed Hennessy, doing much damage.

GENERAL DESTRUCTION.

SPRINGFIELD (Mo.,) July 8.—A severe electric rainstorm swept along James River and as far as Ozark last night. Livestock was killed by wind and lightning. Crops were badly damaged by the storms. Three houses at Sparta were destroyed by lightning.

HAIL LIKE EGGS.

GUTHRIE (Okla.,) July 8.—A terrible hail and windstorm prevailed here last night. Hail fell as large as hens' eggs, doing an immense amount of damage to crops, breaking hundreds of windows. In one township there was a waterspout and bridges were washed away.

A SCHOONER CAPSIZES.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—A telegram frim Michigan City, Ind., indicates that schooner May Brown capsized near the life-saving station at 8 o'clock last night, the crew of three persons being saved in a surf-boat.

THE STORM-FIEND ABROAD.

BUCHAREST, July 8.—A cloudburst on Saturday night destroyed half of the village of Clanesci in the district of Malceo. Many persons perished and ten bodies have been recovered.

WEATHER FORECAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—For Southern California: Fair; nearly stationary temperature, except slightly cooler on the northern coast; fresh, westerly winds on the northern coast.

NO REST FOR THE WICKED.

From "The Times:" The editor and artist of "The Times" have left town for the mountains on important business connected with the paper.

(The artist, soliloquizing:) "Hard lines for us poor newspaper men. Everybody else can take a vacation during the hot months, but we poor devils have to work all the harder." And they go on overworking themselves.

LAIRD'S GAZETTEER.

WHOLESALE FORGERIES ARE DISCLOSED IN A BUTTE COURT.

Bankers and Merchants Said to Have Been Swindled Right and Left Throughout the Land by Bogus Contracts.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

BUTTE (Mont.,) July 8.—The preliminary trial of H. A. Sloans and William McMahon today developed a gigantic forgery scheme affecting bankers and merchants in nearly every large city in the United States. The two men were arrested several weeks ago when they presented themselves at one of the banks in this city and attempted to collect $85 on a "contract" for an advertisement in a publication called Laird's Industrial Gazetteer. The bank rejected the contract as a forgery.

On the men were found hundreds of similar contracts bearing the alleged signatures of various merchants and mining companies. How the men secured the signatures of the merchants is unknown. They have alleged advertisements of firms in Chicago, St. Louis Denver, Ohama, Salt Lake, Spokane, San Francisco, Helena and many other cities estimated to represent over $20,000. When the men were first arrested a telegram was received from New York signed "The Laird Company," stating that the men were all right and that the company was responsible. Since then nothing has been heard from there.

MRS. COTTIER'S CASE.

Sentenced to Six Months for Not Giving Up Her Child.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

CHICAGO, July 8.—Mrs. Lizzie Cottier of Washington was today sentenced to six months in jail for contempt of court in refusing to disclose the whereabouts of her daughter Florence.

Mrs. Cottier is the Washington stenographer who, in 1888, after placing her daughter in hiding, told the Buffalo police that the child had been drowned. Her husband, Alonzo Cottier, a wealthy Chicagoan, had attempted during the hearing of the divorce case to regain possession of the child and Mrs. Cottier was ordered by the court to tell where her daughter was hidden. This she dramatically declared she could not, no matter what the penalty, as she believed that the girl would be injured should her father find her.

Late this afternoon Judge Paine granted an appeal in the case and Mrs. Cottier was released on bail pending a decision.

The Canal Project.

COLON (Colombia,) July 8.—The Nicaragua Canal commissioners will leave here today on the Montgomery. They say that it will be decided after getting home whether they will make a report on the Panama Canal or not. The local press thinks it is a pity that in the interest of the United States and the commissioners of the world, Congress did not give instructions for a report on the canal which is partly finished, with a shorter route and to cost less than the Nicaragua Canal.

A DEATH CHASE

Chicago Citizens Pursue a Robber.

The Desperado Shoots Four of Them.

After Wounding a Policeman He is Brought Down by the Latter.

Plucky Fight of Saloon-keeper McGlern Whom He Attempted to Lock Up in the Ice-box of the Saloon.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

CHICAGO, July 8.—In Western desperado style a man supposed to be C. F. Cole, assaulted and attempted to rob D. C. McGlern in his saloon at No. 64 Adams street in the heart of the business district of Chicago this evening. After seriously wounding McGlern, the thief escaped and made the most remarkable race for liberty ever seen in the streets of Chicago. After firing into the mob that pursued him and seriously wounding four citizens, he was run down and killed by Officer Rosenthal, opposite the entrance of the Auditorium Hotel on Congress street. The wounded are:

D. C. M'GLERN, saloon-keeper, three wounds in the head; will recover.

H. M. STERNBERGER, shot in the abdomen, taken to St. Luke's Hospital; will probably die.

SAMUEL STONE, shot in the right leg; will recover.

McGlern was alone in his saloon when Cole entered and ordered a glass of beer. This was served to him and he then asked the saloon-keeper to get him some meat that he claimed to have left in the ice-box of the saloon. McGlern walked to the entrance of the ice-box and Cole, drawing a revolver, ordered him to go inside. McGlern turned and struck the robber in the face, nearly knocking him down. The two men then clinched and fought desperately. Cole managed to get one arm free and with his revolver he pounded the saloon-keeper vigorously.

The robber then broke loose from McGlern, and, running to the second entrance of the saloon, turned on Adams street. Although bleeding profusely, McGlern followed, and was only a few steps behind when the thief turned into O'Brien's saloon at No. 83 Adams street, and, still holding the revolver in his hand, ran out of the rear door on Quincy street. He then turned east, and at State street boarded a southbound cable car. McGlern was still close upon him, and Cole, seeing that he could not shake off his pursuer, ran through the car. Several citizens had by this time joined in the chase, and, after running one block to Jackson street, Cole fired a shot into the crowd, which failed to hit anyone.

The flight and pursuit then turned toward Wabash avenue and south upon that street. Officers Rosenthal and Dayo joined in the chase, and as Cole was badly winded by this time, they rapidly came up with him. Half way between Van Buren street and Congress street Rosenthal was close upon his man and ordered him to surrender. Cole replied with a shot, and the bullet tore into the stomach of Sternberg, who was among the leaders of the pursuit. Just before reaching the corner of Congress street the officer fired at the fugitive, who returned the compliment. The bullet of the officer went wild, but that of Cole brought down Stone, another pursuer, with a ball through the leg. Rosenthal fired a second time, and this time Cole staggered. He continued to run, however, and turned the corner and ran east on Congress street until he was directly in front of the entrance to the great Auditorium Theater, where he fell. He died within two minutes without saying a word. The officer's bullet had passed through the left kidney and into the lung.

Nothing is known of the man in Chicago. The only manner in which his name could be learned was by the laundry mark on his clothing, which read, "N. E. Cole." He was of slender build, about 5 ft. 8 in. tall and had a dark mustache.

WEATHER BULLETINS.

Chief Moore Resumes the Plan of Issuing Daily.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The resumption of the old plan of forwarding daily weather bulletins, except on Sunday, to all forecast-display stations receiving such information by the government telegraph service was decided upon by the Agricultural Department today. It is the first important scheme for improving the forecast service to be put into operation by Chief Moore of the Weather Bureau.

The present system of sending these messages only when decided changes in weather conditions are expected, was found objectionable as tending toward indifference and neglect, and many urgent requests for a change were filed. The resumption of the plan approved this afternoon by Acting Secretary Dabney has been under advisement for some time, but was delayed largely owing to ex-Chief Harrington's opposition. The dropping of the daily service has resulted in several of the oldest and best-qualified observers and display-men leaving the service, owing to dissatisfaction with the irregular forecast reports.

Boys Start a Conflagration.

CORNWALL (Ont.,) July 8.—About fifty houses have been burned at Lorreville. Eight hundred people were rendered homeless. Great distress prevails. One child was burned to death. Some boys playing in a shed set fire to it, thus starting the blaze. A high wind was blowing. The flames communicated rapidly with adjoining houses and in three hours the whole district was a smoldering mass of ruins.

LIEUT. O'BRIEN IS SUMMONED HOME FROM PEKING.

The Military Attache Said to be Persona Non Grata for Personal Reasons.

He Claims to Have Seen the Mikado's Troops Commit Atrocities at Port Arthur.

Ex-Secretary Foster Returns to Washington—He Expects Good Results from the Shimonoseki Treaty.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Lieut. M. J. O'Brien of the army, military attache at Peking, has been directed to return home, and the fact is one which officers on duty at the War Department are discussing quietly but with much interest.

Lieut. O'Brien was attached to the legation at Peking shortly after the war between China and Japan began. He was selected by Lieut.-Gen. Schofield. The course of the war would, it was believed, develop results which for military reasons it would be necessary to observe and report upon. Other countries would have their army and navy officers in China and Japan, and the United States must be in a position to obtain the valuable information of the field and seas that these foreign representatives will secure.

Officials at the War Department will not speak frankly in relation to this unexpected action in recalling Lieut. O'Brien. They say that the war in China is at an end, and there is little need of an army officer being retained in the Orient. They say that it has never been intended to permanently keep an officer at Peking. Considering the circumstances, this explanation is not satisfactory.

Well-informed subordinates at the department intimate that the real reason why the officer has been recalled is a diplomatic one. They speak of the case with much caution, but one more talkative than the others hinted that Japan has informed the State Department that Lieut. O'Brien is persona non grata. It appears that a short time ago Lieut. O'Brien wrote to Minister Dun relating to the alleged Japanese atrocities at Port Arthur, in which letter, while speaking in a complimentary manner of the general character and conduct of the Mikado's troops during the campaign, he said he witnessed at that place shocking acts of violence and brutality on the part of the Japanese.

The letter has not been published. Besides its significance in the present connection, it is interesting as the written testimony of an eye-witness of what took place at Port Arthur on the occasion about which so much has been said in press telegrams of Japanese cruelty. The letter is dated December 28. It reads in part:

"As to the unfortunate circumstances at Port Arthur I can only speak of what I saw, of course; but I am sorry to say that even that little is such as to lay the army open to the most severe censure. I have seen a number of cases of the killing of men who not only could have been made prisoners without difficulty, but who were plainly unarmed and in a position of humble surrender. I have also seen a number of bodies whose hands were tied behind their backs; also bodies very much mutilated and having wounds that indicated that they were killed with the bayonet when beyond question there was no resistance. I have seen these and other horrors in the course of my observations of battle while going to the forts and main points of interest. I saw no new acts of war or pillage on the 22d and 23rd of November except the looting of houses and stores. That went on until there was nothing left to loot."

The letter goes on to assign as a reason for the Japanese atrocities that the army had expected greater resistance than it met, and with such an idea the troops began to clear the way by force and that control over them was lost. The remark is made: "I do not think this excuse sufficient. Such acts have always met with censure and so must this case."

Lieut. O'Brien says some pleasant things of the army, which lessen but do not remove the sting of his words.

EX-SECRETARY FOSTER AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—John W. Foster arrived in Washington today from China, where he had taken a conspicuous part in the diplomatic branches of the China-Japan conflict. He would not consent to an interview until he had rested and examined his baggage.

In answer to inquiries, Foster made a statement in which he said there was good reason to expect permanent peace between Japan and China as the result ofthe treaty of Shimonoseki. The terms demanded by Japan may, he said, under the circumstances, be regarded as reasonable, especially in view of the retro-cession of Liao-Tung Peninsula. The treaty has been observed and carried out by China with scrupulous good faith. Her conduct in this respect has created a good impression in Japan. The loan just concluded through Russian influence will enable China to pay the first installment of the indemnity. These two installments cover half of the indemnity and the balance, extending over six years, will be a comparatively easy burden for the Chinese government, if any skill is shown in the management of the imperial revenues.

The country has great resources and has never yet failed in its financial engagements. Hence the peace concluded at Shimonoseki is not likely to be broken on account of the short-comings of China. If a rupture occurs it is more likely to be brought about by the intermeddling of the European powers. The intervention of Russia on account of the terms of peace was not unexpected and is not unnatural in view of her predominating interest in the Orient, and especially on the North Pacific coast of Asia. That France followed the lead of Russia created no surprise in the east, but that Germany should unite with them in a display of force against Japan was entirely unexpected and it is not yet understood.

British residents in China and Japan are very bitter in criticising their government for its abstention in the matter. They allege that its failure to join with the other powers in rearranging the terms has lost for their country the prestige and has left Russia a free hand in its influence and control at Peking. Of all the countries diplomatically concerned in the contest, the United States has come out of it with better grace than any other. From the first hour it has been recognized by both belligerents as purely disinterested, her only desire being to render such service as would bring about an honorable and lasting peace. The conduct of the State Department in its very delicate relations with both contestants has been marked by good judgment and by few mistakes, and the good offices of our ministers and consuls in China and Japan, where they represented the interests of both governments, have been very useful, and are highly appreciated by both.

Having asked why he declined the invitation to remain in China as the adviser of the government, Foster said he had spent the greater portion of the past twenty-five years in foreign lands, and while his residence abroad had been generally a pleasant one, he found no country equal to his native land. He desired to spend the remainder of his life in his native country. He confessed that if the invitation had come five or ten years earlier he would probably not have declined it.

IN A "PEK" OF TROUBLE.

LONDON, July 8.—A dispatch to the Times from Kobe says that an attempt has been made at Seoul to arrest Prince Pek, the home minister. It is surmised that the affair is connected with an attempt of the Queen's party to overthrow Japanese ascendancy in Korea.

STORMY TIMES.

The Japanese Cabinet May be Forced to Resign.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—(Special Dispatch.) Ozaki Yukio, leader of the Progressionist party of Japan, predicts stormy times during the coming session of the Imperial Parliament in an interview with Col. Cockrell, the Herald's representative in the Orient. Mr. Yukio thinks that the burning topics will be ministerial incapacity, utter injustice, and scandalous nature of the revised compact with China, and that a better treaty could have been made. He says:

"Japan should have presented a bold front, in which case neither Germany nor France would have carried matters to extremes. We should have only Russia to deal with, and we are not afraid of Russia. We shall effect the fall of the Cabinet. Count Kuroda is about to resign; Count Matsukta has already done so, while Viscount Matsu's resignation is no less certain. He has no stomach for the coming battle royal.

"We shall declaim against the ministerial disgrace in yielding promptly to the 'friendly advice' of Russia, Germany and France. We shall argue that proper precautions to prevent such an intervention should have been taken long beforehand, as the government had full warning of what was to be expected. We shall urge them to cause His Majesty, the Emperor, to sign a revised treaty with China's most important concessions omitted."

CLEVELAND'S INFANT.

DR. BRYANT SAYS THAT SHE IS A FINE GIRL.

The Rejoicing at Gray Gables is Participated in by the Buzzards' Bay Population—Esther and Ruth Are Guarded by Secret Service Officers.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—A special to a local paper from Buzzard's Bay, Mass., says that there is rejoicing at Gray Gables, the President's summer home, over the arrival of another little girl, which interesting event occurred at 4:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, and the little stranger was the general subject of conversation among all people in the vicinity of Marion.

The mother of Mrs. Cleveland, Mrs. Perrine, was not with her daughter when the child was born, but has been notified and will come to Gray Gables at once. The President's family now consists of three children, all girls. Ruth, the eldest, was born in New York after the close of Mr. Cleveland's first term. She is now about 4 years old, is a pretty brunette, much resembling her mother. Esther, the second child, was born at the White House about two years ago. Esther is a blonde and is very pretty. She is not so well known to the public as is her elder sister, whose pictures have been widely published. Esther's resemblance to her father, however, is said to be as striking as that of Ruth to her mother. Both children have been reared in every luxury that money and position could command. When they travel each is attended by a nurse who never allows her charge to leave her sight.

On several occasions reports have been circulated of attempts to kidnap the two little girls, and as a consequence they are always closely watched by secret service officers. Dr. Bryant, the attending physician, has attended Mrs. Cleveland at the birth of all her children, and accompanied her when she came here from Washington. He is a resident of New York, and it is at his home that the President stays when in New York.

DR. BRYANT'S REPORT.

BUZZARDS' BAY, July 8.—Dr. Bryant today reported that Mrs. Cleveland and her little one were resting quietly and everything was progressing finely. He will add nothing except that the newcomer is a "fine little girl." Numerous messages of congratulation to the President have been received.

MADAGASCAR APPEALS.

America's Protection Wanted in the Struggle Against France.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Documents received here by public men, including many members of Congress, indicate that strong pressure will probably be brought to bear to induce the United States to interfere to secure the settlemen by arbiration of the dispute between France and the native government of Madagascar. These papers originate in Madagascar and the most recent of them bears the date of May 12. They come to Washington under an English postmark, showing that they have been forwarded from that country under cover to secure their delivery in America, though at the risk of much time.

They are printed arguments intending to show that the United States and Great Britain should interfere jointly, but that if Great Britain declines to participate, then this country should act independently in the matter. The argument proceeds on the ground that the question involved is the right of France to exercise a protectorate over Madagascar.

An "Extra's" Small Pickings.

DENVER (Colo.,) July 8.—A special to the Republican from Phoenix, Aris., says that Wilsey E. Peck, an extra carrier at the Phoenix postoffice, was arrested today for the robbery of local postal funds. His peculations extend over a period of four months, and are understood not to exceed $100. He has confessed to the postmaster.

CORNELL IS DUBIOUS

THE CREW MAY NOT ROW AT HENLEY TODAY.

Hager and Fennell Are Reported as too Sick to Work in Present Conditions.

Coach Courtney Looks Glum and Appears Over-anxious as to the Result.

Corbett Says Fitzsimmons is Frightened—McDowell Offers to Match Alix—Eastern Wheelmen—Baseball and Races.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

HENLEY-ON-THE-THAMES, July 8.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Henley regatta begins tomorrow. Cornell, at 3:30 o'clock of that day, will meet the famous Leander Boat Club crew, probably the strongest on the river. In view of the depressing accounts circulated regarding the all-Cornell crew, a representative of the Associated Press had a talk with Charles E. Courtney, their coach, when he arrived at the boathouse this morning. Courtney looked very glum and said:

"I do not know whether the Cornell crew will be able to row tomorrow. The fact is that we have two sick men among the crew who ought not to row in their present condition. They are Hager and Fennell. The latter was in a high fever yesterday evening. The two men, however, may be all right tomorrow, as I was afflicted in the same way, and I felt all right one day and bad the next. If our boys were right I feel very confident that there is not a crew on the river equal to them. They have been steadily improving in practice, and make faster time at each trial. In spite of this I am unwilling to take the responsibility of allowing sick men to strain themselves in a race. If the invalids are not better tomorrow we shall have to put in substitutes or else scratch. I have done everything possible to keep the men in condition, but they have been unable to contend with the climate and the little worries to which they have been subjected. If I had the thing to do again, I would request permission to bring twenty-five men here and keep two crews training."

Courtney does not share the suspicions of C. S. Francis, the trustee of Cornell University who accompanied the Cornell crew to England, regarding the alleged unfairness in the drawing of lots for the different heats, which resulted in pitting Cornell against the Leander crew. Commenting on the drawing, Courtney remarked: "The affair was managed differently than at home. Here there is one man who draws the names from a hat and then tears them up, none of the others seeing them. But this man was an old Leander Boat Club man of the highest repute, and if he desired to favor his club he would have given them a bye."

Courtney seems to be over anxious about the result. He has been working very hard and there is reason to believe Cornell's prospects are much better than he imagines. Certainly there was no sign of discouragement among them when the boys arrived at the boathouse at 10 o'clock. It is true that some of them looked pale, but they were all in the best of spirits and Fennell and Hager were as lively as any of them. The boys launched their boat shortly after 10 o'clock and rowed at half-speed down the course. All the other crews were out and it was admitted on all sides that none of them approached Cornell's form, or appeared to row as easily. The members of the Leander crew have an undeniable hang in each stroke. A number of English coaches were grouped with Courtney on the river, while the crews were practicing and one of them said: "Well, Courtney, your boys certainly row in the best form and in better style than any of the crews of the river. We give them four out of six points. Their principal fault in our mind is in the shortness of their stroke, but their blade work and the use of their hands could not be better."

Courtney admits that the stroke of the Cornell crew is not as long as he would like, and he says that it is simply because Hall will not reach as far as Courtney wants. On arriving at the starting point, after their practice, the Cornell boys paddled back to their boathouse in the best of form. Great crowds of people witnessed the final practice of the crews this evening. None of the crews did the full course. The Cornell crew rowed up stream and passed the town, where great masses of people lined the banks, and in going under the bridge they were greeted with hearty cheers and cries of "well rowed."

Corbet Passes Some Remarks About Himself and His Opponent.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—Now that Fitzsimmons has been declared "not guilty," interest naturally centers in the big fight, and what the men are doing in preparation. Corbett was seen by a reporter today and said:

"You can say one thing for me: I never started to train feeling as well as I do now. I have not commenced my work yet, and shall not until about six weeks before the fight.

"I do feel certain of the result. I was never more so in my life. In the first place I never considered Fitzsimmons in my class, and the only way he can convince me that he is, is by whipping me. Some people are very unkind in their remarks about me, accusing me of being afraid to meet him, and of being a newspaper fighter. I don't think there is anything in my record that sustains their statements. When Sullivan was champion, after meeting Kilrain, it was three years before he fought again, and yet no one accused him of being a coward, in spite of the repeated challenges of Slavin and Jackson, and, when Slavin met him personally, Sullivan told him he had retired from the ring.

"Now, if I had shown a great haste to meet Fitzsimmons when the match was first proposed, these same people would have said I was looking for easy honors by going out of my class. Of course, I know Fitzsimmons is anxious to meet me. Why shouldn't he? He has everything to gain. Previous to his being matched to fight me his theatrical ventures were anything but successful; since then he has made the amount of our side bet out of the fact of our being matched.

"If I whip him he is still champion middle-weight. If he lasts twenty-two rounds or more, people will say he is a better man than Sullivan, and if by accident (and accidents are liable to happen) he should win he is a made man. If you thought you stood a ghost of a show wouldn't you take those chances?

"About his confidence of winning I will only say one thing. I gave Fitzsimmons credit for being a smart man. Would any shrewd man boast that he could whip another in a punch, when by merely keeping silent he could get odds of two to one for his money? His utterances appear to be the boasting of a frightened man."

Andy McDoyell Offerst o Match Her Against Any Trotter.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

LA CROSSE (Wis.,) July 8.—Andy McDowell, trainer of Alix, has issued the following challenge:

"As certain parties owning fast trotters have circulated reports that Alix is badly out of condition and will not be able to equal or beat her record this season, I hereby offer to match her against any trotter in the world for $5000 a side, the race to be trotted on any first-class track, after her present engagements have been fulfilled. Furthermore, I will enter her in a race with any other three trotters at $5000 a corner, the winner to take all and the distance flag to be twenty yards from the wire.

THE SIBERIA FIGHT.

Confirmation of First Reports by a Settler.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

LOUISVILLE (Ky.,) July 8.—Joseph Lucas, who was at his home near Siberia, Ind., when the battle of the religions took place on July 4, arrived here today and confirms the story. When asked about the matter he said:

"One was killed and several others badly injured. The fight was a desperate one, and in it clubs, knives and beer-glasses were used with terrible effect. The fight lasted three-quarters of an hour and at the end of that time over a dozen men were stretched out on the ground."

From Lucas's statements, it is evident the first accounts, if not absolutely correct, were true in the main.

WIRE DRAWERS.

Those Open to Engagement Get Down to Work.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

CLEVELAND (O.,) July 8.—About 1000 striking working men were in the vicinity of the American Wire Company's works today. The company had posted notices that the plant would be started today. A large detail of police was on hand, but there was no trouble of any kind.

The rod men returned to work at both the American Wire Company and the H. P. Nail Company's works without any opposition on the part of the striking wire-drawers. No attempt was made to resume work at the Baackes Wire Nail Works. Nearly three thousand men are idle on account of the strike.

A GREAT, GREAT RUSH.

TRAINLOADS OF TEACHERS POUR INTO DENVER.

Eleven Thousand Visitors Up to Noon Yesterday—Session of the National Council—The Committee on Pedagogics Reports.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

DENVER (Colo.,) July 8.—During the past twenty-four hours there has been a great great rush of incoming delegates and visitors to the National Educational Association Convention. It was estimated that 11,000 visitors had arrived at noon today and the total number will exceed fourteen thousand. The regular trains have been heavily loaded, and a dozen special trains besides have arrived since last night.

The National Council of Education continued in session this afternoon. President Rounds announced the following committee to formulate a plan for carrying into effect the suggestions in Dr. Sabin's paper on "Ungraded Schools," read on Saturday: B. A. Hinsdale of Michigan, D. L. Kiehle of Minnesota, J. R. Preston of Mississippi, George P. Brown of Illinois and Earl Barnes of California.

The report of the Committee on Pedagogics was given by Dr. B. A. Hinsdale of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, the subject being "Laws of Mental Congruity and Mental Energy Applied to some Pedagogical Problems." The doctor showed that the rules of teaching and the arrangements of studies should conform to the peculiar condition of the pupil's mind, so that mental power shall be used to the best advantage and mental fatigue be avoided. He dwelt upon the necessity of so arranging the studies that one shall not interfere with the best treatment of another.

The paper of Dr. Hinsdale was discussed by G. P. Brown of Bloomington, Ill.; F. Louis Seldan, St. Louis; S. G. Williams, Ithaca, N. Y.; Joseph Baldwin, Austin, Tex.; G. H. Baker, Boulder, Colo.; Prof. Russell of Boulder, Colo.; John W. Cook, Normal, Ill.; L. H. Jones, Cleveland; N. C. Schaffer, Harrisburg, Pa.

The Supreme Court hall proving too small to accommodate the large number of spectators, the afternoon session was held in the auditorium of the Denver High School. The report of the Committee on Normal Education was given by its chairman, President Cook of the Illinois State Normal School. The committee had secured information from sixty of the normal schools regarding their customs regarding admission of students and courses of work. The committee recommended that educational requirements for admission be not too high and that practice be interspersed with theoretical study after the first year of the normal course.

The latter proposition provoked a very animated discussion, taken part in by N. C. Schaeffer, S. G. Williams, James M. Green of Trenton, N. J.; G. P. Brown, Z. Richards, Washington; H. H. Seerley, Cedar Falls, Iowa; C. H. Hinsdale, Ann Arbor, Mich.; C. C. Rollis, Plymouth, N. H.; Earl Barnes, Menlo Park, Cal.; Gen. Eaton, one of the first United States Commissioners of Education appointed by President Lincoln. It was voted to have the paper printed.

THE PEDAGOGUES AT MANITOU.

MANITOU (Colo.,) July 8.—Fifteen hundred teachers have arrived in Manitou during the past twenty-four hours. Every hotel is crowded almost to the bursting point and all means of transportation to points of interest strained. Over 500 went to Pike's Peak summit over the cog-wheel road yesterday and several hundred today.

NEGLIGENT OFFICERS.

Two Officials of the New York Navy-yard in Disgrace.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, July 8.—(Special Dispatch.) As a result of the investigation into the affairs of the New York navy-yard at the direction of the Secretary of the Navy, two officers will be reprimanded, detached from their duties there, and be placed on waiting orders with half pay. These officers are Naval Constructor Frank I. Fernald and Civil Engineer Peter Asserson, both of whom were found to have been negligent in the methods pursued in employing help for their departments.

Investigations of Lieut. Knapp showed that civil service rules were persistently ignored, and the system of favoritism prevailed to an alarming degree. Fernald and Asserson contended that the mistakes were not due to design on their part to evade civil service enactments. It is said that Commodore Sicard, commandant at the yard, upheld them in their contention.

IN THE University Laboratory at Berkeley, Prof. Winslow Anderson found Dr. Price's Baking Powder perfectly pure.

Misled by an Insurgent Plot, They Nevertheless Rout the Enemy Very Handily.

The Cubans Lose Two Hundred and Eighty Men in the Engagement.

Naturalized Americans on Trial—Rushing in More Troops for Campos—Palma is Elected the New President.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

HAVANA, July 8.—(By South American Cable.) A severe engagement has taken place between Spanish troops under command of Col. Azur and Gen. Antonio Maceo's large force. Two hundred and eighty of the latter were killed.

It appears that Maj. Sanchez received information that a force of 1500 insurgents, under the command of Rabi, had occupied strong positions near Manzanillo, province of Santiago de Cuba. The major sent a messenger to his superior officer, Col. Azur, proposing to him that they should join their forces and make an attack upon the insurgents. The messenger, however, fell into the hands of the insurgents who hanged him and sent word to Maj. Sanchez, in the name of Col. Azur, to make an attack upon the insurgent position from a point which compelled the troops to approach the insurgents through a narrow thoroughfare.

Maj. Sanchez, recognizing the difficulty of the movement which he was apparently directed by his colonel to execute, sent forward two advance pickets of twenty and thirty men respectively under the command of the sergeants, with instructions to push forward to the right and to the left of the narrow passage far removed from them and be careful to take up advantageous positions from which they could protect the advance of the main body of the troops under Sanchez's command. The sergeants cleverly followed out the instructions. Maj. Sanchez then advanced carefully upon the insurgents' position, protecting his men by every inequality of the ground. But, as he expected, the troops were no sooner inside the defile than the insurgents attacked them in force.

The first charge of the insurgents was made with enthusiasm, and their machetes played havoc among the troops, who were hemmed in and unable to deploy on account of the narrow road they had to follow. But it was here that the two advance pickets under the two sergeants came to the rescue. From their elevated position they kept up a continuous fire upon the insurgents within range, and eventually, assisted by a charge from the Spanish troops, compelled them to retreat outside of the defile. The Spanish rushed forward after them, and, once in the open, they charged the insurgents with great courage, and compelled them to retreat hastily. The insurgents then sought refuge in the strong position they had previously left in order to attack the troops, but the soldiers carried the position and put the enemy to flight with the loss upon the field of 280 killed. The troops lost fifty men killed and wounded.

It was at first reported that the insurgents were commanded by Gen. Maceo, but it was later learned that they were under Rabi alone, and that Maceo took no part in the engagement.

RUSHING IN THE TROOPS.

HAVANA, July 8.—Gens. Salcedo and Bazan, while out scouting in the fields near Yatras, had a skirmish with the insurgents, who left ten killed upon the field. On the side of the troops two soldiers were killed and ten wounded. Gen. Navarro had an engagement with the Souza bands of insurgents at Botji, Santiago de Cuba. The insurgents lost two killed, left two wounded behind them, and in addition the Spanish captured two prisoners.

Capt.-Gen. de Campos has issued a proclamation saying that all insurgents captured with arms in their possession will hereafter be summarily tried by court-martial and shot. Those who conspire against the integrity of the nation will be sent to the penitentiaries, and those who surrender will be released.

At Macagua, near Matanzas, an insurgent band consisting of about thirty men has plundered and burned three stores. During the present month reinforcements of 18,000 men will leave Spain for Cuba, and during the month of October and the early part of November additional reinforcements to the number of 60,000 troops will be sent from Spain to Cuba. All the steamers of the different Spanish lines will be chartered by the government in order to send the troops here.

NATURALIZED AMERICANS ON TRIAL.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The last advices received by the State Department from Cuba relative to Sanguilly and Augere, the naturalized American citizens who have been under arrest there several months on charges of complicity in the rebellion, are to the effect that they are now under trial, which may be long-drawn notwithstanding the fact that in at least one case the proceedings are civil as well as criminal and political.

However, as fair progress is being made according to the Spanish practice, and as the men have the best of counsel, and their cases are being closely watched by the American Consul-General, the State Department is not disposed to make this a matter of complaint.

MACEO HEMMED IN.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A special to the Herald from Santiago de Cuba says that Gen. Antonio Maceo is now, according to reports from Spanish sources, hemmed in between El Cobre and Ramanganguas, threatened on one side by the forces of the Spanish general, Gasco, and on the other by the Spanish columns of Navarro.

PALMA CHOSEN PRESIDENT.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Cuban election for a successor to Jose Marti was practically decided today in favor of Tomas Estrada Palma. The delegates in the principal large cities of the United States and Mexico represent thousands of votes in their respective States. Their choice as announced by telegraph today was that the delegates are all one day, for Palma.

Jumped the Track.

CHICAGO, July 8.—A Paulina-street electric car running at high speed near Taylor street jumped the track and crashed into a curb, breaking the motor to splinters. The badly injured are: John Scasanka, a laborer, both legs broken, internally injured; Robert Stokes, a clerk, arm broken and head cut; Andrew G. Eaking, a mechanic, internally injured; William Balbar, a motorman, arm injured and head cut; Frank J. Palera, a laborer, cut about head and shoulders. Several other passengers were cut and bruised. The accident is supposed to have been caused by an obstruction on the rails.

GUARDING GUITERREZ.

San Salvador in a Ferment—An Attempted Kidnaping.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SAN SALVADOR, July 8.—(By Atlantic Cable.) Arrests continue to be made here daily in connection with the attempted kidnaping of President Guiterrez. The garrison is under arms night and day, and the enlisting of men is carried on vigorously. The government is distrustful of the regular troops, as it is known that many conspirators are in the ranks. An angry and drunken mob, which has been gathering, is a source of much alarm to the government and those citizens who desire to avoid an uprising. The mob is being harangued by students, who are bitter against the government.

Posters are up over the entire city, calling on President Guiterrez and his Cabinet to resign. It is openly asserted on the streets that some of those arrested during the kidnaping affair have been shot.

EZETA WILL TAKE THE FIELD.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8. — The Chronicle tomorrow morning will say that Gen. Ezeta is preparing to return to San Salvador on a vessel chartered by himself for the purpose. It is said that the steamer chartered by Ezeta is well armed, and that Ezeta is now engaged in securing a crew to man the vessel which is to convey him to his country. To a Chronicle reporter who visited him tonight he showed a handsome military uniform, which he had just received from Paris.

Ezeta says that his countrymen are clamoring for his return, and that the new government is very unsatisfactory to most of the inhabitants, who do not hesitate to show their disapproval. The ex-Vice-President points to the newspaper reports of riots to substantiate his statements of the people's dissatisfaction. He says that within three months he will be installed in the Presidential palace, and that peace will once more reign in his country.

The name of the steamer that will take Ezeta to Central America is a secret which he will not give up, but it is almost certain that she is a San Francisco vessel, and that she is somewhere in this vicinity being loaded with arms and otherwise being fitted for the voyage.

New Method of Smuggling Chinese—Arrests to Follow.

(BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—A special from Montreal to the Evening Post says that the customs officials in that city expect to make an important arrest in a few days in connection with the smuggling of Chinamen from Canada into the United States.

During the last four months it is estimated by the authorities that fully three hundred Chinamen have been smuggled across the lines at various places. The smugglers have grown so bold and the operations so extensive that the authorities at Washington decided on immediate action, and sent twelve of the shrewdest detectives in the service to work up the case. Many have made this city their headquarters, and during their sojourn of ten days have succeeded in locating not only the leader of the gang, but have also found out the secret means of transportation.

Last Wednesday it was learned that the captain of a lumber boat in this port had arranged with the smugglers to convey fourteen Chinamen from South Quebec to New York, provided they were delivered to him near Soup Islands. The captain succeeded in eluding the secret service men and getting them off the track and sailed up the river to Lake Champlain and thence to Troy, N. Y., where he landed the Chinamen at night. The name of the captain has been secured, and the name of his barge, and if he crosses into American waters he will be arrested.

Some time ago a barge of lumber was seized at Troy by United States officials who suspected that it carried contraband goods. When the lumber was partly discharged the officers were considerably surprised to find in the center of the load, neatly caged in, eighteen Chinamen with their baggage. There are a great number of Chinese in this city at present waiting to cross into United States territory, and many of them are paying the smugglers as much as $200 to get them across.

Importations of Chinese.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The treasury officials have received no information in confirmation of the report from Montreal that United States customs officials there had discovered that large numbers of Chinamen were being smuggled into the United States from Canada. While it is probably true that an occasional Chinaman succeeds in getting across the lines, it is not believed that 300 or any considerable number have been smuggled into this country.

A WESTERN BURGLAR.

William Davis with Many Aliases is Detained at Gotham.

NEW YORK, July 8.—William Davis, alias Richard Bernard, alias Dick Davis, alias Martin, wanted in San Francisco for burglary, is under arrest here. He is one of the best-known burglars in the West. Davis was arrested in this city on December 5, 1893, for entering a house at Twenty-first street and Ninth avenue. When discovered by the woman of the house he attempted to shoot her. He was not convicted because the woman refused to make a complaint.

In July, 1893, in company with two other men, Davis broke into a store in San Francisco and stole $15,000 worth of silks. He was arrested and placed under $4000 bail. Straw bail was furnished and he fled.

BERNARD'S OFFENSES.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—(Special Dispatch.) Richard Bernard, alias Dick Wilson, is badly wanted by the police of this city. About two years ago Bernard and two other men robbed the store of Neuberger, Reiss & Co., on Market street, and got away with eighty bolts of silk, valued at several thousand dollars. A few days later Detectives Seymour, Whittaker and Coffey arrested the burglars in a room on Post street. Most of the stolen property was found in their possession.

The grand jury subsequently returned indictments against the men for burglary. Bernard secured his release on a bogus bond, but he was not free for long. He went into a dry goods store on Sansome street, and, picking up a bolt of silk, started for the door. He was detected in the act and was then placed under arrest and charged with petty larceny.

After repeated efforts to get out of jail on straw bonds, Bernard finally stood trial. Upon conviction he was sent to the House of Correction for six months. He took an appeal to the Superior Court, but before the case was heard Bernard got away. Meantime his accomplices were convicted of burglary and sentenced to five years each in San Quentin.

REDDING, July 8.—The Redding and Alturas stage was robbed early this morning, two miles above Morley's station, twenty-four miles from the city. Supervisor Buss and a lady passenger were not molested. The highwayman took the Wells-Fargo box and registered mail, securing, perhaps, $400.

The robber is described as 5½ feet tall and many believe it to be Brady, as the officers claim that he took that direction.

CASE BOUND OVER.

ROSEBURG (Or.,) July 8.—The examination of John Case and James Poole on a charge of robbing a Southern Pacific train on July 1 was held at Riddle before Justice Weber this afternoon. Case was identified by Brakeman Norman and T. P. Arrousay, a passenger, as the principal robber. The latter was positive as to his identity. He saw the face several times when the mask blew aside.

M. Dean identified Case as the man who passed his place on Monday going toward the scene of the hold-up. The State rested, and the defense waived introduction of testimony. Case was bound over in the sum of $10,000. The examination of Poole is in progress.

BARWICK'S REPORT.

The Weekly Weather and Crop Summary—Hoppers and Worms.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SACRAMENTO, July 8.—Director Barwick of the California Weekly Weather and Crop Service summarizes as follows: The average temperature for the week ending July 8 was: For Eureka, 56 deg.; Independence, 74; Los Angeles, 68; Red Bluff, 74; Sacramento, 70; San Francisco, 60; San Luis Obispo, 60, and San Diego, 64.

As compared with the normal temperature there is a heat deficiency at all points named excepting Eureka, which reports an excess of heat of one deg., the deficiencies at other stations being as follows: Fresno, 4 deg.; Los Angeles, 3; Red Bluff, 5; Sacramento, 2, and San Diego, 3, while San Francisco reports normal conditions to have prevailed. There were a few sprinkles during the Fourth of July in the Sacramento Valley and in portions of the Coast counties, but no damage was done as the amount precipitated was too small.

Harvesting is in full blast, but the yield is not good. Grasshoppers are damaging crops, etc., along the foothills of the Livermore Valley and in the foothill regions of upper Sonoma county. The army-worm has made its appearance in portions of Eldorado and Yuba counties, but does not as yet appear to be doing any great amount of damage. Fruit is beginning to come in quite freely and the canneries and dryers are getting in proper shape to handle it as fast as it may arrive. It is generally reported that peaches will be a pretty good crop both in quantity and quality, but most other fruits will be rather short in yield, though the quality is reported as being unusually good and the fruit of a larger size. Beans are doing only fairly as yet, while hops are slowly advancing toward maturity.

ASPHYXIATED IN FILTH.

An Unknown Woman Kills Herself at Sacramento.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SACRAMENTO, July 8.—This afternoon at 3:30 o'clock a young woman leaped into the green, slimy depths of China Slough, which is the receptacle for the filth of Chinatown, and was drowned. The body was recovered about an hour afterward and taken to the morgue.

The woman is unknown. She left no note by which she could be identified, and it is thought she was a stranger in this city. The woman was short and slender and aged about 25 years. She had a wealth of bright auburn hair. Her eyes are blue. The woman wore a jounty black "dude" hat of straw. Her dress was a light calico with a small pink or brown stripe and she had a jacket of dark navy blue ducking with polka dots. The buttons on the jacket were large and black. The woman had but thirty cents in money.

Two Men Arrested for Using Up James Godfrey.

They became engaged in a row on Minna street with James Godfrey and, during the scrimmage Godfrey was badly beaten and bitten. He bit Tracy on the arm, so he was charged with mayhem. Tracy and Dolan were released on $40 each, while Godfrey was sent to the City and County Hospital for treatment.

Erysipelas set in and he is now in a precarious condition. His death is momentarily expected and Tracy and Dolan have been rearrested. They will be held without bail pending the result of his injuries.

DAVID JONES'S GAUGE.

He Proposes to Apply it to a Superior Judge.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—David Jones, after twenty years of incessant litigation in the interior county of the State, has now thrown down the gauge of legal warfare in the courts of San Francisco. In a suit filed today Jones demands judgment for $100,000 damages against Superior Judge R. McGarvey of Mendocino county, J. A. Cooper and T. L. Carrothers, prominent attorneys of Ukiah, and Nils Iverson and Andrew Olsen, private citizen. The basis of the action is an allegation that the plaintiff was unlawfully and unjustly subjected to forty days' imprisonment for contempt of court.

The imprisonment, on account of which Jones asks judgment, grew out of an affidavit for change of venue, in which he alleged that Judge McGarvey had been an attorney for the defendants in a suit then pending and in such capacity he (McGarvey) had falsified records in order to win the case. Jones declared further that for years he had been held up to ridicule by the defendants, who, he alleges have induced the judge to render wrong decisions and by malpractice prevented his having the decisions reversed on appeal. He declared also that he had been victimized by various attorneys who were formerly in his employ and mentioned as among such attorneys ex-Police Judge Rosenbaum, J. Taylor Rodgers, now Mayor Sutro's secretary and H. C. Wilson.

Because of the filing of this affidavit Judge McGarvey adjudged that Jones had been guilty of contempt. He committed Jones to the County Jail where, as above stated, the old man remained a prisoner for forty days. In filing his present suit of damages Jones fought clear of all legal advisers. He appears in the suit as his own attorney.

THE HOPPER PEST.

Insects Threatening Much Damage to Santa Clara Vineyards.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—During the last five or six days insects have appeared in a number of Santa Clara vineyards, and unless their progress can be arrested, they threaten to do much damage to the grape-crop of that section. Whether they are vine-hoppers or simply grasshoppers is yet to be determined, and on the result depends the gravity of the visitation. In the latter case the mixture of arsenic with bran, which has done great service in Fresno and Sonoma, should prove equally effective in Santa Clara. Should the insects, however, turn out to be the vinehoppers, their destruction will be much more difficult.

Capt. Youngberg returned today from a visit to the region about Saratoga, Los Gatos and the intervening country as far as Mayfield, bringing with him specimens of the hoppers which are to be submitted to the arsenic test. He says that some of the vineyards are not as badly infected as others, and that the fine varieties of the vines are the worst sufferers.

The insects are small and, on that account, are thought by some persons to be young grasshoppers. They perforate the twigs and stems of the vines from which the sap exudes until the grapes, deprived of nourishment, fall off.

LINCOLN SCHOOL PROPERTY.

A Contest Over the Ownership of Buildings on Public Ground.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—A legal battle is about to take place between the city and the lessees of the Lincoln-school property, which property has a frontage of 140 feet on Market street from the Parrott block to Fifth street. The contest is over the ownership of all the buildings that have been erected on the ground mentioned, and it will come up in the form of a petition for an order to restrain the lessees from removing the buildings.

City and County Attorney Creswell holds that the buildings have become fixtures and that as such they belong to the municipality; but the lessees, having constructed them under a lease which provided that they might be removed at the termination thereof, fail to see the justice of the legal opinion which makes their structures the property of the city and county. They have, therefore, combined and employed Attorney Ryland Wallace to contest the petition for a restraining order. The city and county leased the ground in question under a special act of the Legislature of March, 1874.

Joe Saunders Killed Himself.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The secret of the long and mysterious absence of Joseph Saunders was revealed today, when it was learned that, while ostensibly on a hunting trip in Siskiyou county, he took his own life. Saunders was for many years one of the lessees of the Russ House, and had made a comfortable fortune. He speculated in mining stocks, and for a time did well, but at length reverses came, and it is thought that brooding over his misfortune caused him to commit suicide. He disappeared from this city nearly four years ago.

A Currant Topic.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Collector of Port Wise has received the decision of the New York Board of Appraisers, made July 3, with reference to currants imported here, which the Collector claimed were Zante currants, and so liable to duty. Wise will appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

William Walker, whose remains were found strewn along the railroad tracks near St. Joseph, Mo., for a distance of four miles, on Saturday, was not killed by the train, as at first supposed, but was murdered and the body placed on the railroad to hide the evidences of the crime. This is the conclusion reached by the Coroner's jury.

A man giving the name of E. W. Davis, who was arrested at Miller, S. D., for the murder of Nels Carsen, a Wyoming stockman, confessed yesterday at Pierre to the crime. Carsen and Davis were bringing in a lot of stock and horses through Dakota. Davis killed Carsen and tried to dispose of the stock. There is fear of his lynching.

Another tunnel in thirty feet struck a vein of quartz that seems to be high-grade ore, and prospectors claim an assay of $55 for the whole vein, some parts of it running as high as $500.

Father Mariano le Pore has again assumed charge of the Mt. Carmel Italian Catholic Church in North Denver on a temporary order of reinstatement from Mgr. Satolli. Father le Pore's faculties were withdrawn by Bishop Matz. Charges had been made against him and an investigation begun, which was not completed, thereby leaving a stigma on the priest. Mgr. Satolli advised Father Robinson, the vicar-general, to restore Le Pore, pending a full and complete investigation into whatever charges may be against him.

On Tuesday they will ascend Pike's Peak over the cog-road, and Wednesday evening, after spending the day at Manitou, they will return East over the Missouri Pacific.

In the Supreme Court room at Salt Lake yesterday, at a meeting of the Utah Bar Association, there was an expression of universal sadness at the sudden death of Judge Kirkpatrick. Many words of praise were spoken of the dead man's career and sympathy for his bereaved family. Judge Zane moved that a committee be appointed to draft resolutions of a suitable character. Judge Judd moved that it be the sense of the members of the bar that they attend the funeral in a body. This was agreed to, and as a mark of respect the court adjourned until today.

It is understood at the War Department that both Secretary Lamont and Gen. Schofield have made an inspection with the view of selecting a site for the military post on Puget Sound. The Secretary has looked over the ground selected for the post at Spokane, which was authorized in the Military Appropriation Bill. This post cannot be established without an order from the Secretary. This is also true of the post on Puget Sound. Gen. Schofield is known to favor a post on the Sound, and he stopped at Tacoma yesterday with a view of making an observation of the advantages offered for such a post. Seattle is also anxious for the post, and considerable rivalry exists. Secretary Lamont also has discretionary power as to the location of this post, and previous to his Western trip he was not very much disposed to incur the expense of the new posts in the Pacific Northwest this year.

With a Republican Congress as a Foil Cleveland Thinks He Looms Up Great.

Congressman Bynum Orates Upon the Monetary Question—Rules for the Debates on "Coin's Financial School."

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—A Washington special to a local newspaper says that not only is Mr. Cleveland a candidate for the third term, but indications are not lacking that he is already engaged in an aggressive canvass in this interest. Secretary Lamont's tour among the Western army posts is in reality an electioneering device. It has been the custom of recent Secretaries to investigate the condition of the regular stations, and this custom Lamont found especially adaptable to his political designs.

If Mr. Cleveland expects to be President again he is enough of a politician to know that the achievement of his ambition will require the most skillful political manipulation. It is Secretary Lamont's mission to get in touch with the Democratic sentiment throughout the West and to find out exactly what needs to be done to conciliate Western sentiment and bring support to the third-term scheme. So far as the East is concerned Mr. Cleveland has no anxiety. He believes that the issue of "sound money," which he thinks he has created, will be sufficient to secure him the support of New England and the Middle States, although he understands the difficulties that will confront him in New York. But when he was nominated in 1892, it was done by delegates from the West and South, so that he is most solicitous now.

Mr. Cleveland believes that the longer the discussion of candidates can be deferred the better his chances will be. While there is no other aspirant for the nomination sufficiently conspicuous to attract to himself the support of the great mass of the party, Mr. Cleveland is confident that the great amount of sentiment will be toward him from now until the time of the convention. With a Republican Congress, Cleveland as President will be the central Democratic figure, and whether the Democratic leaders like it or not, on him, he thinks, the eyes of the party must be turned daily for guidance and instruction.

It will not be necessary for him to make any formal announcement of his candidacy. The fact that he is willing to accept the nomination is sufficient, and his friends understand perfectly well that a nomination will not be declined. The throwing out of the vague hints that the President is not seeking a third term, linked to the persistent discouragement of other candidates so as to leave the party in a demoralized and uncertain condition when the time for action arrives, are the main features of the scheme which the administration has entered into.

An active propaganda has already been instituted in Massachusetts, which is the headquarters of the Cleveland cult. A prominent Massachusetts Democrat who was in Washington last week declared that if Mr. Cleveland wanted the Democratic nomination again he could have it and that delegations pledged to him would go to the convention from every New England State. The same is asserted of New Jersey and Pennsylvania, and Secretary Lamont is expected to lay the wires for delegates in the West during the trip he is now making at public expense.

Mr. Cleveland is confident that by pursuing these tactics he will be able to control the Democratic convention and, by the force of prestige and position, in the face of disorganization and division on the part of the men who might otherwise successfully contest his supremacy, to secure the nomination.

"COIN'S FINANCIAL SCHOOL."

CHICAGO, July 8.—The rules governing the Horr-Harvey silver debate, which will be given on Tuesday, July 16, are about completed. The main provisions are that the doctrines set forth in "Coin's Financial School" shall form the basis of the discussion, one chapter being discussed each day, three hours being devoted to each chapter.

To prevent set speeches, the maximum number of words that can be used in answering any question or stating a proposition will be 1000. The last half hour of each session will be devoted to questions from guests, no one being allowed to ask more than three. Neither disputant is to delay more than three minutes in giving his statement, answer or question after the other has finished speaking. Each disputant may have ten assistants. No selection of place has yet been made.

INDIANS AND THE GOLD STANDARD.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A special to the World from Beliz says that Indian mahogany-cutters complain that the adoption by the colony of a gold standard has cut wages in two. They sent one of their chief here to demand that the silver coins which they received in payment for the work be accepted at par value and not subjected to discount.

It is impossible to convince the Indians that a gold standard is to the advantage of the country, and they point to the fact that they have been juggled out of half of their pay. Yucatan residents here want the colony annexed to Mexico which still maintains a right to this region. The Yucatans argue that the case is precisely similar to that of Venezuela, where the English have wrongfully possessed themselves of territory.

A GEORGIA SENSATION.

ATLANTA (Ga.,) July 8.—Hon. Thomas G. Lawson of the Eighth Georgia District, is out in a lengthy interview in the Journal this afternoon which will probably furnish a political sensation in this State. Judge Lawson is one of the ablest members of the Georgia delegation. In his interview Judge Lawson declares for bimetallism as set forth by the last national Democratic platform, but asserts:

"The free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 by our government alone would, in a short time, result in silver monometallism; that is, we would have no coin money in circulation, and no paper money except paper redeemable in silver. If we cannot have bimetallism in accordance with our national platform I prefer the single gold standard to the single silver standard."

BYNUM ON "SOUND MONEY."

SPENCER (Ind.,) July 8.—The Hon. William D. Bynum of Indianapolis opened his "sound-money" campaign here tonight. He spoke in the opera-house to a large and representative audience composed of the members of both political parties. He was listened to with the closest attention throughout and was liberally applauded. He was introduced by the Hon. Willis Pickam and spoke for two hours. His speech was as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen: I am not here as the representative of any political party, and do not assume to speak for anyone but myself. The people of the country are confronted with the solution of an important question. The broad expanse of our territory, our varied and unlimited resources, and the great growth of our commerce require that we should have the quickest and most convenient forms of exchange, and as sound a financial system as any nation on the face of the earth. The question of "sound money" is one that affects directly the interests of every citizen. It enters every home and demands the thoughtful consideration of every intelligent mind. I believe that the people in every section of the country desire to see the government maintain "sound money;" that the advocates of free silver as well as those opposed to the same favor maintaining the largest circulation of both gold and silver at a parity, and are opposed to any policy which would result in the banishment of either from use.

The controversy is not one as to the result to be obtained, but how to achieve it. No one, I presume, desires to see a policy inaugurated that would result in a separation of the value of our gold and silver. The cheaper will always drive out the dearer, and the result would be the expulsion of our gold. No person, even if he could afford to do so, would pay in the more valuable when he had a right to discharge his obligations in the cheaper kind. Our present circulation consists of about $630,000,000 of gold, $650,000,000 of silver, $346,000,000 of greenbacks, $48,000,000 of currency certificates, and $211,000,000 of national bank notes, all maintained by the government upon an equality. A dollar of our silver money or paper currency is worth a hundred cents in any part of the civilized world.

I assume not only that no one desires to see a separation in the values of our coin, but that no one desires to see a policy pursued that would debase our circulation. The legal ratio between gold and silver as fixed by our law is 16 to 1, while the commercial ratio is about 32 to 1. The effect of opening our mints to the free coinage of silver would be to bring the legal and commercial ratios of the two metals together, or to reduce the monetary value of the silver dollar to its commercial ratio. In the event of the latter the silver dollar would be worth only 50 cents in comparison with the gold dollar, and would, therefore, drive gold out of circulation. There can be no question that with free coinage of silver the value of bullion in a dollar would become the equal of its monetary value. The important question, therefore, to be determined is, would the price of bullion then go up from 66 cents to $1.29 an ounce all the world over, or would the monetary value of our silver dollar come down to its bullion value, about 50 cents?

It is a fact that the commercial ratio of the two metals has always controlled their movements in spite of their coinage ratio. The advocates of free coinage assume, and all their arguments are based upon the erroneous assumption that, with free coinage of both metals at a ratio of 16 to 1, we would have bimetallism. This assumption is the great consideration in the discussion of this question, and until they demonstrate that both metals would remain in circulation, all their declaration about a double standard, bimetallism, and an increased circulation is pure fustian. It is said that even members of Congress did not know what the provisions of the act of 1873 were. There is nothing startling about that. My experience of ten years as a member of the House of Representatives has led me to believe that not ten members of that body ever do know what is being done. I am inclined to the opinion that the silver question was deemed of such little consequence at that time that no one felt much interest in the subject, and therefore paid no attention to the details of the measure. Gold had been standard money with us ever since 1834; we had coined but 8,000,000 of silver dollars, and they had all left the country. From 1873 to 1878, during which time it is popularly supposed that our mints were idle, we coined over $50,000,000 of silver. Thus we see that during the first four years after the passage o fthe act of 1873 we coined over $50,000,000 of silver, as against $145,000,000 during the seventy-six years previous, and yet it is earnestly and apparently seriously insisted that the act of 1873 was the cause of the fall in the price of silver which began about that time.

In 1878 we again commenced to coin the standard dollar, and up to and including a part of 1893, had coined $415,000,000, besides over $30,000,000 of subsidiary coin, and purchased under the provisions of the Sherman act, and have on hand sufficient bullion to coin $125,000,000 more. The consumption of silver by us since 1873 has been more than $650,000,000 of coinage value, and yet it is boldly asserted that the cause of the fall in its value was the discrimination against it as a money metal.

As nations advance their commerce grows, their transactions increase, and a more valuable standard becomes necessary. The displacement of silver has not been because of any unfriendliness, but because conditions had so changed and wealth had so increased as to require the use of a more valuable standard. Gen. Mansfield, in his work on money, declares that "iron is the monetary metal of a people extremely poor; copper of a people who are poor; silver of a people who are well-to-do, and gold of a people who are rich."

This increased demand for gold by many European nations was met by an increase in production, and thus silver was relegated to a subordinate position. In 1873 the coinage value of the world's production of gold was $96,200,000, while in 1894 it was over $180,000,000. The value of the gold product of the world in 1894 was greater than the annual average product of both gold and silver from 1861 to 1865. Not only has the production of gold increased nearly 100 per cent., but the production of silver has increased in a greater ratio.

Is it not apparent that the free coinage of silver means a change of the standards with us? Yes, it means more. It means an abandonment of the standard and the adoption of a fluctuating base by which to measure domestic commerce. Who can contemplate the demoralization, the widespread ruin that would result from such a policy?

Let it once be definitely settled that such is to be the policy of this government and every creditor will demand payment of obligations due him. Every depositor in a bank will hasten to check out his balance, and every bank will be driven to resort to the most radical measures to collect its loans. The consequences would be such a sacrifice of securities, such a shrinkage of values and such a distraction of credit as would entail universal distress and suffering.

Why stake the priceless boon of our financial standing, the stability of our monetary system, and the prosperity of the nation in the pursuit of the will o' the wisp, "cheap money," which has led every people on the face of the earth that pursued it into the bogs of financial distress and ruin?

A GRAVE SITUATION.

Some of the Striking Miners Are Likely to Get It.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

BLUEFIELDS (W. Va.,) July 8.—The situation is very grave in the Elkhorn mining region. White, Gov. McCorkle's private secretary, says that the danger is imminent, and that trouble may occur at any time. A telegram from Gov. McCorkle today to Col. Tierney says that if any more parading with guns is done by miners the troops will be sent immediately. Threats of burning the tipples are made, and this, with the derailment of cars, has created serious alarm.

The heavy guard of United States marshals, together with Gov. McCorkle's telegram, Col. White thinks, has had a beneficial effect. The company here is in readiness to move at once if needed.

GARDINER'S FORCE.

WELCH (Va.,) July 8.—United States Marshal Gardiner, with all his deputies, is in the Elkhorn coal-fields, looking after Norfolk and Western interests. So far the troops have not been ordered by Sheriff Effler, as no outbreak has been attempted by the strikers.

MANITOBA SCHOOLS.

The Dominion Government Decides on a Policy.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

OTTAWA (Ont.,) July 8.—The government tonight announces its policy on the Manitoba school question. The Manitoba Catholics having appealed to the Dominion authorities to pass a law restricting separate schools as they existed prior to disestablishment, the Dominion government announces that it will make an attempt to arrive at an understanding with the Manitoba government whereby Roman Catholics shall be given their schools under state inspection and with teachers who have passed the provincial normal-school examinations.

If Manitoba will not consent to this, the Dominion government pledges itself to bring in and pass a law containing such provisions at the session beginning the third week in January next.

Those dear traitors told the truth!

There are swifter, surer bearers
Of Love's tender messages
Than the tongue; and fond hearts heed

Notary Public in and for Los Angeles County, State of California.

NOTE.—THE TIMES is a seven-day paper. The above aggregate, viz., 102,810 copies, issued by us during the seven days of the past week would, if apportioned on the basis of a six-day evening paper, give a daily average circulation for each week-day of 17,135 copies.

THE TIMES is the only Los Angeles paper which has regularly published sworn statements of its circulation, both gross and net, weekly, monthly and yearly, during the past several years. Advertisers have the right to know the NET CIRCULATION of the medium which seeks their business, and this THE TIMES gives them correctly, from time to time.

ABORIGINAL ART.

Indian Paintings from the San Fernando Mission.

One crosses the garden of the old church of Nuestra Senora de los Angeles and steps upon the broad porch, a spot which preserves its air of peaceful age in placid disdain of the buzzing electric-cars and that end-of-the-century invention, the bicycle. Protracted ringing brings a swarthy little Mexican who says inquiringly, "Priest? No here. No speak Ingles."

You finally make him understand what you want, and he smilingly throws open the door and leads the way into a little inner room, half of which is hidden by curtains. He pulls them back, and behold—the treasured relics. Covering the walls and piled against each other in a corner, are fifteen paintings telling the tragic story of the Passion. They were painted by the Indians of San Fernando nearly a century ago, when that stately old mission had thousands of neophytes ever ready to till the mission fields or to herd the vast mission flocks, ever at hand to do the padres' bidding. But the state confiscated the widespreading demains, the old church went to pieces, and these pictures, wreckage of its ruin, drifted to their present resting-place, the Plaza church.

They are very crude. These Indians had seemingly no knowledge of perspective. The neck of a horse grows out of the body of a man and a stone wall hangs in the air, right above a group of soldiers. The paintings are not so very accurate historically. The Jews and the Roman soldiers are dressed in tight knickerbockers and gaily embroidered jackets, and it is evident that they all have a strong infusion of Indian blood in their veins. The horses are very interesting. Their necks are about twice the size, in respect to their heads, of an ordinary nag. They look on at everything with an air of the most intelligent interest.

It seems a pity that these pictures cannot be more carefully protected. They are of great and growing value as objects of antiquarian interest. With an improvidence inherited from the '49-ers the people of Los Angeles take no steps to procure an adequate public museum in which such rapidly-vanishing relics of the past can be preserved.

BUSINESS.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
Los Angeles, July 8, 1895.

BANK CLEARINGS. The bank clearances for today, as reported to The Times by the Los Angeles Clearing-house, are: Exchanges, $227,396.76; balances, $27,300.78.

BANK MEETING. The regular annual meeting of the stockholders in the Main-street Savings Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles was held in the offices of the company at the junction of Spring and Main streets on July 5 (and not today, as was announced in some newspapers,) when the following directors for the coming year were elected: I. N. Van Nuys, H. W. Hellman, W. G. Kerckhoff, Kaspare Cohn, Abe Haas, O. T. Johnson, H. W. O'Melveny, J. B. Lankershim and T. L. Duque.

The directors then convened and elected the following officers for the next year: President, T. L. Duque; vice-president, I. N. Van Nuys; cashier, J. V. Wachtel.

A GOOD SHOWING. Although not obligatory under the bank law, the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Los Angeles has just issued a statement of its affairs and condition at the close of business June 30, 1895, which shows a healthy and prosperous state of affairs. The present capital of the bank, paid up, is $500,000; the surplus is $600,000, and the undivided profits, as shown in the half-yearly statement were $206,574.53.

NEW MINING COMPANY. As will be seen in the local columns of The Times, articles of incorporation of the Big Horn Mining Company have been filed in the office of the County Clerk of Los Angeles. The capital of the company is $2,000,000, and the directorate embraces the names of some of the best-known residents of Los Angeles. The company intends getting to work at once. The mine is situated near the headwaters of the San Gabriel River, and one of the first acts will be to put in a 100-stamp mill. Another important feature in connection with it is that all the necessary supplies for use in the mine will come from Los Angeles.

COMMERCIAL.

CALIFORNIA MANUFACTURES. Why are they not more fully patronized? The Times has asked that question, others have asked it, and the Commercial Bulletin of Los Angeles now asks it. In its last issue that paper points out that Southern California produces all the requisite raw materials for making the different kinds of conserved and preserver fruits, such as jams, jellies, conserves, pickles, gherkins, etc., and yet with all that almost every pot and pound of these things is imported from the East or Europe, and, as the Bulletin says, "are found in this markt, often when the local product has no place on the shelves. Our local factories put up just as good pickles, just as good vinegar, just as good jellies and jams as any in the world. I say it is to the interest of the Los Angeles merchant to push the sale of San Jose jellies in preference to London jellies. I say it is the duty of the Santa Ana merchant to push the sale of Los Angeles pickles rather than of London pickles. I say it is the duty of every merchant in Southern California to push the sale of Southern California goods rather than of any goods made elsewhere. It is a duty he owes himself. It is the duty of every merchant of Southern California to press the sale of any commodity made in California."

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

CHEAP FUEL. The importance of cheap fuel, as shown by the oil industry of Los Angeles, has acted as an incentive on our slower neighbor of the north, San Francisco. The people of that city have started out to hunt for "ile," and it looks as if they were bound to find it even if they have to buy a five-gallon can of Standard and salt an old dried-out water well. San Franciscans are rustlers when you wake them up, but they take a heap of waking. Here is something the California Fruit-grower of that city has to say on the Los Angeles oil industry, the effect it has produced on San Franciscans, and the enormous number of oil wells the Los Angeles wells have been the means of bringing to light in that city and neighboring towns. It looks, in fact, as if the oil belt of the Los Angeles district extended away north over the Tehachepi pass, up the great San Joaquin Valley, under Mount Diablo and across the great and magnificent bay of San Francisco. Here is the article:

"Appreciating the great need of cheaper fuel as a stimulant to manufacturing enterprises in San Francisco as well as nearly all parts of the State, the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association has been tireless in its efforts to compass a supply of that prime necessity. It is well known that the discovery of oil in considerable quantities in Los Angeles and other sections of Southern California has given a vigorous start to numerous manufacturing enterprises in that part of the State, and is calling the world's attention in that direction. Recently a pipe-line about fifteen miles in length was laid from the oil wells at Puente to the great Chino sugar factory, and it is expected that some 10,000 barrels per month will be thus delivered to be used as fuel. Such advantages as these are sought for San Francisco, and if they are in heaven or earth hereabouts the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association will find them. Reports having come to the association that evidences of oil had been discovered in Alameda county within a few miles of San Francisco, the association sent out a 'smelling committee,' so to speak, to learn the prospects for opening a productive oil field. The committee was composed of Messrs. A. McLaughlin, C. Meese, J. W. Kerr and L. Blankenhorn, and the kernel of their report to the association is contained in the closing paragraph, which was follows:

"'The fact exists that there can be no question as to the presence of oil in the lands examined by us. The liberal terms upon which said lands can be worked, and the accessibility of great markets near by, which can be reached by rail, water or pipe-line, lead your committee to look upon this as a field, worthy of the attention of the prospector and the capitalist.'"

BIGGEST IN THE WORLD. A convention, bigger in dollars than the national political conventions are in number, has just been held in Milwaukee. It was the National Brewers' Association. The value of the property controlled by that association is estimated at $500,000,000. It is, in fact, the wealthiest industrial organization in the world.

INCORPORATIONS. Articles of Incorporation have been filed by the American Crude Oil Company and by the National Oil Company.

The first named organizes for the purpose of operating in all ways in oil and power for carrying on the oil wells, and for carrying on a general manufacturing and merchandise business.

The principal place of business is Los Angeles, and there are five directors, as follows: F. E. Nelson, C. E. Payne, Thomas Hughes, E. L. Doran and Edward Strasburg.

The capital stock is $50,000, divided into 500 shares of the par value of $100 each, and the amount actually subscribed is $3000.

The National Oil Company is organized for the same purposes, the principal place of business being Los Angeles, and the capital stock is $2500, divided into 250 shares of the par value of $10 each, all of which is actually subscribed.

The five directors are: W. E. Van Slyke, A. R. Cook, F. E. Moyer, A. A. Greene and Charles H. Jones.

Articles of incorporation have been filed by the Pacific College of Obstetrics and Maternity Institute, formed for the purpose of carrying on and conducting a college of obstetrics, and in connection therewith a maternity institute so that the same may form a theoretical as well as practical school of obstetrics in all its different branches. The college is to be conducted in Los Angeles. There are five trustees, whose term of office is to be five years, H. Newland, M.D. J. W. Trueworthy, M.D., J. T. Stewart, M.D., R. Wernigk, M.D., and O. D. Fitzgerald, M.D.

Ten thousand dollars in money has been subscribed by Dr. Henry Newland as a loan to the company, to assist in founding the college.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

Shares and Money.

(REGULAR ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

NEW YORK, July 8.—The week opened with fairly active trading and a strong tone to the speculation. News calculated to affect the market was in the main favorable. Crop advices were generally encouraging, and this induced purchases of the Grangers. Coal-trade prospects were reported improving, and there were other influences at work on the individual stocks. Sugar, which led in the transactions, was bought at the opening for the bull clique in the stock, a rise being assisted by the announcement of an advance in the price of one grade of refined sugar. It fluctuated over a range of 1¾ per cent., closing with a net gain of ⅝ per cent. New England was in active buying demand, the purchases being made mainly, it is understood, for the account of parties who wish to control the company for the New Haven road. The stock sold up 4 per cent, and closed within ¼ per cent. of the top figure. The general market continued strong until near the close, the improvement at the high point ranging up to 3 per cent. in Pullman, 2¾ in New Jersey Central and 2¼ per cent. in Canadian Pacific. Toward the close the drive against Sugar depressed the market and resulted in losses which ranged up to 1 per cent., the latter in New Jersey Central. Speculation closed heavy in tone. Prices are, however, generally higher on the day. Bonds were somewhat animated and strong. The sales were $1,845,000.

New York Dry Goods.

Their inquiries have been more for information than for purchase. New business in cottons was light. For clothing wools, both light and heavy-weights, there was a wider inquiry and considerabde business was done. Print cloths were firm at 2⅞c.

NO USE FOR PESSIMISTS.

The Deming (N. M.,) Headlight of July 5 contains a Fourth of July oration by Game Warden "Jim" Kinnear, written in a breezy, unfettered style which is quite refreshing. The appended extract is particularly so in its references to pessimists and pessimism:

"Ever since governments were first organized there has been a herd of yelping coyotes, varying in size with the population, who have been sure that everything was going to the old Harry. They have been hanging upon the bloomers of the Goddess of Liberty since she was old enough to wear them. During our 120 years of national life not a single good has been accomplished for and by the people, not a single barrier to our advancement has been removed without the opposition of this element and in the face of their declaration that it would bring on disaster, if not war. Still, the forward march of our race goes merrily on. Washington was called a sausage; Adams a fungus-brained aristocrat; Jefferson a watery-eyed fossil and some were positive that Jackson was a villain and a menace to liberty, yet these are some of the men whom we now honor as the chief constructors of the beautiful arch of our sovereignty. Today we hear the dismal wail of the man without hope as it was heard then, only now it seems to be the fad to listen to him more than was done then. The crying infant will drown the preacher's voice and fill the largest auditorium with incoherent sound, while the congregation, aware of the true import of the disturbance, remain in their seats. Likewise, fellow-citizens, the ass brays loudly in the night and makes a discordant noise that may be heard for miles, but it frightens no one. It is so with the frowning, bellowing demagogue, who, with the aid of some of the press, fills the land with sound—a senseless noise, while the great conservative, thoughtful body of our countrymen, upon whom our national existence has always depended, saw wood and heed him not."

PRODUCERS' LOSSES.

The New York Press has been making a study of the results thus far achieved under the Wilson-Gorman tariff, as compared to the results achieved under the McKinley law. Comparisons are more or less odious, as a general proposition. In the present instance the comparisons are particularly odious to those who would draw deductions favorable to the existing tariff.

The Press finds that our imports of foreign agricultural products are nearly three times greater under the Wilson-Gorman law than under the McKinley law, the increase applying to every article in the list, without exception. Meanwhile, our exports of agricultural products have declined by a third, and this decline also covers every article in the agricultural schedule. In breadstuffs and meats the decline in values amounts to $60,000,000. And yet we were compelled to produce and export more breadstuffs and meats, as measured by tonnage, to obtain a return which was less by $60,000,000 than the return obtained under the McKinley law. Thus we are gradually changing from a country which imports nothing that its soil and climate can produce, to a country that exports nothing that other soils and climates can be made to produce.

"When our exports of agricultural products," says the Press, "fall within one year from $420,270,833 to $308,025,448, and our imports of farm products rise in the same period from $97,122,363 to $61,308,546, our farmers as a class are running to the bad at the rate of $160,069,000 a year. If we assume that there are 30,000,000 persons in the families of our farm population, this means that they are worse off under the Gorman law by over $5 per capita by import and export of farm products solely. Only about one part in ten of the products of our aggregate industry are exported, the other nine parts being consumed in our own production and consumption. And half the wealth we consume is imported. Hence, the foregoing losses really measure, even to the agriculturist alone, only a tenth of their actual loss through shrinkage in their capacity to produce and consume, there being over and above these the nine-tenths of their products consumed in this country on which there has been a like shrinkage in quantity and value, and the nine-tenths of their consumption of American products, shrunk in the same proportion. These included amount to a loss to the agricultural population, in products and consumption combined, of $1,600,000 in a single year for the privilege of tinkering the tariff. Behind these shrinkages in value there follows the painful array of defalcations, suicides, individual suffering and social crime, indicating not merely an arrest of prosperity, but a relapse toward barbarism. Two years of such conditions are a blow at our civilization which no money damages can express."

When the free-trade Democracy was suing for political power in 1892, one of the main arguments advanced was that the agriculturists of this country would reap incalculable benefit from the adoption by us of a free-trade policy. Notwithstanding the fact that agriculture in Great Britain was at that very time suffering from the severest depression it had ever experienced, many American farmers were deluded, by the oily sophistries of free-trade attorneys, into believing that a vote for the British system was a vote calculated to promote their own prosperity. Enough voters were thus deceived to determine the result of the election. The consequences of their unwisdom are before them. The Gorman-Wilson tariff is not exactly a free-trade measure, but it is built on free-trade lines, and in many cases affords little or no protection to domestic industry. Highly injurious and prejudicial as have been the effects of this tariff upon agriculture, they would have been vastly more so had the radical free-trade element of the Democratic party been able to carry out its programme. To the Republicans and the conservative Democrats in the Fifty-third Congress the producers of the nation owe some measure of gratitude. The disaster is not so great as it might have been. But it will do, as a foretaste of what free trade would bring.

Senator Elkins favors a short, sharp and aggressive campaign in 1896, while J. H. Manley of Maine is in favor of an early convention. Mr. Elkins says:

"I have been through more campaigns than Mr. Manley, and harder ones, too, and I think that the convention should be held about the usual time. Three months between a nominating convention and the election is long enough. The strain upon the public and the men conducting the campaign is too severe if it is long drawn out. What we want is a sharp, aggressive campaign, and that sort of a fight cannot be carried on in hot weather when the people are thoroughly tired out."

There is much force in Senator Elkins's view of the matter. A short and aggressive campaign would be better for all concerned than a long one. Two months would be ample for all practical purposes. We can rout the enemy in even a shorter time than that.

A Sunday-closing law for the especial benefit of the Chicago barbers has been passed by the Illinois Legislature, and now the 4000 men-barbers of the Windy City are trying to have the Council pass an ordinance to drive the women barbers out of business. It appears that a great many barber-shops have been opened by women in Chicago during the last year or two, and the number is steadily increasing. In this field, as in others, the new woman is elbowing her way to the front with surprising rapidity. There is no telling where it all will end.

The deadly microbe has invaded everything worth having since he was discovered. We are now told that it is positively dangerous to eat the rind of any fruit, and that the annual death-rate would be greatly reduced if all fruit were pared before being eaten. It is really too bad that our forefathers didn't know about all these things in their day, But then they were spared a great deal of worriment by reason of their ignorance, and this fact may have greatly prolonged their lives in many instances.

London newspaper correspondents announce that there will be "a serious revival" of Oscar Wilde's plays in the fall. It is said that there has been a decided change of public sentiment in his favor in London. Sympathy and curiosity together are relied upon to make the "revival" a success. It would seem to an unprejudiced observer as if the British public had already had its curiosity pretty well satisfied as regards Wilde and his works. But public favor, like fortune, is a very fickle jade.

The contention that the volume of money was reduced by the "demonetization of silver" in 1873 is untrue. There was no silver in circulation in 1873, when the silver dollar was omitted from our list of coins. Silver came again into circulation in 1878, with full legal-tender power, which it still retains. The volume of silver currency is greater at present than ever before in the country's history. Moreover, every silver dollar is exchangeable for a dollar in gold, Although commercially worth only 51 or 52 cents, the silver dollar is worth 100 cents as a coin. It is worth 100 cents because it can be exchanged for 100 cents' worth of gold. The government could not maintain silver at this exchangeable value were not the number of coins limited.

A Chicago paper announces that "fully one-half of the criminal class" has left that city and made its way to neighboring cities. This is a good thing for Chicago, if true, and a bad thing for neighboring cities. But the exodus of half its criminal class will not make Chicago "absolutely pure, like baking-powder."

Now that it has been discovered that old age is caused by a microbe, who will discover the germicide which will exterminate the old-age microbe? The remedy, if effectual, would be sure of quite an extended sale.

The number of stamps of all kinds issued to the postmasters of the United States during the fiscal year just closed was in excess of those issued during the preceding year by over $4,000,000.

An association for the improvement of American speech has been organized in the East. There is no denying that the language "as she is spoke" is susceptible of improvement.

English newspapers are boasting that Great Britain produces five novelists to America's one. Though perhaps unintentionally, this is highly complimentary to America.

Debs is writing a treatise on "the causes of discontent." Can it be that it is an autobiography?

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

ORPHEUM. There was the usual smashing big audience at this house last night and the bill was a lively one, though the various turns were scarcely sufficiently diversified to make up an ideal vaudeville show. The entire absence of female performers made the audience pine for the sight of even a "new woman" on the boards. Short and Edwards, musical comedians, opened the ball with their turn at witticisms of a rather ordinary sort, and performance upon instruments of a like character. Their cornet playing was very good and earned for them a warm encore. Sherman and Morrisey do a very clever turn on the trapeze in excruciatingly funny make-ups. They are both accomplished acrobats and keep the stage a-whirl with flying legs and arms during their boisterous bit. O'Dell and Page are another team of acrobats who accomplish seemingly impossible feats of tumbling. The two Macs in their rough horse-play kept the house in a roar. They are both lively performers, with much comedy talent. The feature of the bill is the colored comedians, McIntyre and Heath, who simulate the real old-time darkey in excellent fashion. There is the real old twang to their speech, and their act is both novel and laughable. "A Jay Circus" is an uproarious extravaganza that has many a good hearty laugh in it. The stage is set with a real tent and covered with sawdust, and there is a running fire of lively things going on from the time the curtain goes up upon it. The wrestling pony "Major," is a clever chap in his way and a very pocket edition of a horse. He wrestles like an old stager and uses his teeth on his adversaries like a bull terrier. There are a few coarse speeches during the performance that might well be eliminated, but, as a whole, it is sufficiently bright and entertaining to deserve a succession of such houses as greeted the performers last night. The same bill all the week.

SMILES.

(Cincinnati Tribune:) Breathless messenger. Ruggles. I've been looking for you everywhere. Your house is on fire!

Ruggles (intensely watching something across the street.) I'll be along in a minute. I want to see how they are going to get that safe into the fourteenth story window.

(Syracuse Post:) Bobby was trying to make it pleasant for his father's guest till that individual arrived. He pointed to two boxes of cigars on the piano.

"The one at ther right is them wot paw gives t' his frien's. De udders he smokes himself."

"All right, my boy," said the visitor helping himself to the private box. "I'll take one of these, for at present I'm not your father's friend."

(Tid-Bits:) The teacher. Now, who can tell me which travels the fastest—heat or cold?

Johnny Bright (promptly.) Heat, of course. Anybody can catch cold.

(Boston Transcript:) Maude. How is your friend, Miss Flaunter, now?

Ethel. She is no friend of mine. I'm not on speaking terms with her now. We only kiss when we meet.

(Princeton Tiger:) Tann. Are you fond of Wagner?

Hauser. Passionately. I was brought up near a stone quarry, where they set off blasts every hour.

(Boston Transcript:) Talk of women being timid! Nonsense! Why, a little, meek faced, thin slip of a girl will wear baloon sleeves right in the middle of the cyclone belt, and that without flinching.

(Harper's Round Table:) "James," said the school-teacher, "what do you do with your odd moments after school?"

"I waits till they adds up into an hour, and then I go fishin'."

(Tammany Times:) A professor in the medical department of Columbia College asked one of the more advanced students:

"What is the name of the teeth that a human being gets last?"

"False teeth, of course."

(Life:) "Who is it, Rosy?"

"That's the gal wot won a medal for chewing a bit of gum for twenty hours without stoppin'. She's got a sweater on, and is trainin' to eat fifty sponge cakes without drinkin' a drop of water."

(Indianapolis Journal:) Mother. Goodness, Tommie, won't you ever learn to be a good boy?

Tommie (with confidence.) Yes'm, when I'm growed up.

(Harlem Life:) Father. What do you mean, sir, by hugging my daughter?

Jack Ford. I was merely obeying the biblical injunction to "hold fast that which is good."

TEACHERS ELECTED.

A LIST OF THOSE FAVORED BY THE BOARD.

A Ripple or Two of Excitement During Proceedings—Prof. Search Will Take All of His Money or None at All.

Both the gallery and lobby of the Council chamber were filled last evening, when President Hale called the Board of Education to order. It was expected that some little excitement, in the shape of the usual friction, would be a feature of the meeting, hence the crowd of curious people.

The first business to receive the attention of the board was the report of the Finance Committee, recommending the payment of demands to the amount of $341.85. These were approved, and Dr. Wills immediately produced the demand of Prof. Search for $250, being the amount of his salary for the month of June. Dr. Wills presented this demand as a minority report from the Finance Committee, and spoke in favor of its adoption, as did also Directors Garland and Fulton. The report was not adopted, however, and immediately Director Garland moved to instruct the Finance Committee to pay to Prof. Search the sum of $83.33, being the difference between $250 and the amount already awarded the ex-superintendent.

President Hale declared this motion out of order, and an appeal was immediately taken from his decision. But the appeal was in vain. The decision was sustained. "I will inform this board," said the indignant Dr. Wills, when he saw the hopelessness of his case, "that Prof. Search will not accept a penny of this money unless he is paid the entire amount due him." This statement did not seem to grieve his fellow-members to any great extent, if their impassivity gave any indication of their feelings.

Dr. Wills then presented a communication from Miss E. A. Packard of the High School, informing the board of her desire to resign her position, she having accepted a place in the Oakland High School, The communication was received and filed.

The report of the Teachers' Committee was called for, and read by the secretary as follows:

"The Teachers' Committee reports as follows, and recommends that the following-named persons be elected teachers in the Los Angeles city schools for the present school year ending June 30, 1896:

Ennis, principal of the Spring-street school, were placed in nomination. Prof. Ennis, receiving a majority of the votes cast, was declared legally elected to the position.

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

The reception and ball given in honor of Mrs. Annie B. Andrews, the grand chief companion for California of the Companions of the Forest, by the C. of F. of Los Angeles, at Music Hall last evening, was a pleasant affair, The floor-manager, B. P. Campbell, was assisted by Messrs. C. J. Diller, J. H. Krimminger, I. S. Seamans, William Wolfer, George Wolfer, J. F. Greenough. The Reception Committee consisted of the following ladies: Mrs. J. F. Greenough, Miss Lizzie Jordan, Mrs. Beard, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. J. F. Bell, Miss J. Wolfer, Miss Nellie White, Mrs. Mackordes. Mr. Campbell, the chairman, opened the programme by introducing A. Orfila, grand chief ranger of A.O.F. of A., who made a graceful address of welcome. Mrs. Andrews then gave an interesting account of the general work of the order, its onward course. There are 240 lodges in the United States and Canada, forty-five of which are in California. Mrs. Andrews is the delegate to the supreme circle which convenes in Boston, September 1.

Little Orestes Orfila, with a pretty speech, presented a handsome floral tribute to Mrs. Andrews.

Mrs. Mary B. Hill, a member of C. of F., read an address, in which she admonished the circle as to their obligation and duties to the order and to each other.

After the programme, the remainder of the evening was devoted to dancing.

A RECEPTION.

Henry J. Kramer gave a delightful closing reception to his Wednesday-evening class last evening. About fifty couples were present, and Bierman's Orchestra rendered fascinating music.

PITH OF THE COAST PRESS.

(San Francisco Call:) The investment by New York and Chicago capitalists in San Joaquin Valley irrigation bonds is eloquent evidence of the confidence which Eastern people have in the future of California.

(Blue Lake Advocate:) The merchants of Los Angeles will endeavor to secure the stoppage of Panama steamers at some port in that vicinity. They affirm that a great reduction in freight rates may be obtained in this way. Los Angeles is really wide awake.

(Pendleton (East Oregonian:) Portland papers, and San Francisco papers, and newspapers generally, give too much publicity to the names of respectable young women. A young woman's name can be printed in a newspaper too often. It does her no good. It gives her a certain notoriety which is injurious to young womanhood.

(Escondido Times:) If the fellows who now and then go out of their way to criticise the public schools would stop and think that if were not for these same schools about 90 per cent. of our population would be groping in ignorance, perhaps they would have less to say against our public institutions of learning.

(San Diego Union:) Members of the naval board appointed to examine the cruiser Olympia, while declining to made public their report to the Navy Deepartment do not hesitate to say that the vessel is built according to the plans and is thoroughly seaworthy. This should set at rest for all time the injurious reports about the warship, published by some reckless papers on this Coast and eagerly snapped up by Eastern journals jealous of the reputation which California shipbuilders are acquiring.

(Bakersfield Californian:) It is most gratifying to note that despite the boycott of the Fourth of July celebration by the jawsmiths of San Francisco, that celebration was the finest ever seen in that city. "Organized labor" sulked, but the people turned out and made the best showing ever seen on Independence day. Two facts were thus demonstrated—that organized labor cuts a very small figure numerically or otherwise, and that patriotism is not anywhere so near dead as some would have us believe.

(Detroit Tribune:)" Help!" he shrieked. "Help!"

In an instant his wife was at his side.

"My darling," she frantically cried, "what has happened?"

The trembling man first made her promise that she would never leave him alone in the house again, and then told how a dreadful woman with blear eyes and two weeks' growth of stubbly beard had come to the door and demanded pie.

THE HOUSE OF REGRETS.

We make the molds in the springtime,
In the fervor of life's first years;
We soften the earth with promises,
We sift it with smiles and tears!
With fair, fresh hopes and eager faith
Water and clay we mix,
Saying, one is strong and one is pure,
And laugh as we pile up bricks.

In summer we raise the solid walls,
And frame the roof above them;
We smooth each niche and angle down,
As if we had learned to love them!
We plant sweet blooms about them,
To make doubt and fear look fair;
And when the house is built we go
And leave it standing there.

But in winter the things we have forgot,
And the things we have forgiven,
Rise up like creeping, crawling mist
Between our eyes and heaven;
And rather than madden in useless watch
While the sun o'er the great sea sets,
We enter, and close the heavy door,
And dwell in the House of Regrets.

THE STANFORD SUIT.

Special Attorney McKissick Reports to the Attorney-General.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Atty.-Gen. Harmon today received a letter from Special Attorney McKissick at San Francisco, transmitting a copy of the recent decision of Judge Ross in the suit of the government to recover about $15,000,000 from the Stanford estate. McKissick is of the opinion that the court erred.

He says that if he is not instructed to the contrary, he will take an appeal to the United States Court of Appeals for the Pacific Coast circuit. Although the Attorney-General has not yet given any specific instructions, there is no reason to doubt that he will direct that an appeal be taken.

THE DECISION WILL STAND.

NEW YORK, July 8.—(Special Dispatch.) A special to the Post from Washington says that the decision of Judge Ross of the United States Circuit Court in California, that the law is not strong enough to support the equity of the government's claim against the estate of the late Leland Stanford, is looked upon by many persons as settling this matter forever. Although it will be appealed to the United States Supreme Court, there is a general feeling that the decision of Judge Ross will stand.

It is the belief of good lawyers that the government's suit is founded more on equity than on law; that while there is no doubt that as a matter of justice, the estate should bear its share in satisfying the claims of the United States against the Central Pacific Railroad, as a matter of law the claim will not stand. There is another consideration. The stock of the Central Pacific Railroad Company was owned by four men—Stanford, Hopkins, Huntington and Crocker. Huntington is still alive, and, as there has not actually been a default to the government by the Central Pacific, the fortune cannot yet be disturbed.

The suit against the Stanford estate was a test case, and was begun in order to prevent the distribution of property, which would make it impossible to follow up the government claims. The Crocker estate was long ago distributed; so was the property of Mark Hopkins. It would thus be manifestly impossible to enter suits against the two latter estates with any probability of success. It would be hardly fair to make the Stanford estate pay its share of indebtedness to the government and let the others off; so there are not only sentimental reasons for not disturbing Stanford University, but also just ones.

A Peruvian Election Riot.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A special to the Herald from Lima, Peru, says that during the elections in Chorellos, nine miles from there, there was a sharp fight between the supporters of Arana and those of Bollinghurst, the candidate for Vice-President. Several persons were killed and wounded.

Cut His Cousin's Throat.

EWINGSVILLE (Ky.,) July 8.—John D. Young, Jr., son of ex-Congressman John D. Young, in an altercation with his cousin, Plainley Fassett, cut Fassett's throat, severing the jugular vein, resulting in the latter's death in a few minutes. Young was arrested.

A Gathering of Elks.

ATLANTIC CITY (N. J.,) July 8.—The city is overrun tonight with Elks, who have come to attend the session of the Grand Lodge, which will open here tomorrow. The convention promises to be the greatest in the history of the order. The western delegations have all arrived.

Newell's Murderer Sentenced.

COLORADO SPRINGS (Colo.,) July 8.—Van Houten, recently convicted of the murder of Richard Newell, Jr., was today sentenced to hang during the week commencing July 28.

THE BOY IN GRAY.

Fredericksburg had had her fray,
And the armies stood at bay;
Back of wall and top of hill,
Union men and men in gray
Glowered at each other still.

In the space between the two
Many a hapless boy in blue
Lay face upward to the skies;
Many another, just as true,
Filled the air with frantic cries.

"Love of God," with pity stirred,
Cried a rebel lad who heard;
"This is more than I can bear!
General, only say the word,
They shall have some water there."

"What's the use?" his general
Frowning, asked, "A Yankee ball
Drops you dead, or worse, half way,
Once you go beyond the wall."
"Maybe," said the boy in gray.

"Still I'll risk it, if you please."
And the senior, ill at ease,
Nodded, growling under breath,
"For his mortal enemies
I have sent the lad to death."

Then a hotter fire began,
As across the fields he ran;
Yankee shooters marked a prey;
But beside each wounded man
Heedless knelt the boy in gray.

Parched lips hailed him as he came;
Throats with fever all aflame,
While the balls were spinning by,
Drained the cup he offered them;
Blessed him with their dying cry.

Suddenly, through rain of those
Pattering shots, a shout uprose;
Din of voices filled his ears;
Firing ceased, and eager foes
Made the welkin ring with cheers.

Foes they were, of bitter need,
Still to every noble deed
Hearts of men, thank God, must thrill;
And we thrill, too, as we read
Of those cheers on Marye's Hill.

Days of battle long since done,
Days of peace and blessings won;
Better is it to forget
Cruel work of sword and gun;
But some deeds are treasures yet.

While a grateful nation showers
Graves of heroes with her flowers,
Here's a wreath for one today;
North or South, we claim him ours;
Honor to the Boy in Gray!

GLADNESS.

A warmth of gold, all summer stored,
The goldenrod gives up;
And filled from springtime's scantier hoard
Shines the sweet buttercup;
And from the singing of the breeze
And low, sweet sound of rain,
The little brook learns melodies
To sing them back again.

Forgotten all the cloudy sky
Of dark days overcast;
For flower-hearts let gloom go by,
But hold the sunshine fast.
And, all year long, the little burn,
Though wintry boughs be wet,
Plays on the happy days to learn—
The sad ones to forget.

THE SUMMER GIRL.

She is pretty,
She is bright,
She is ever
A delight.

She is short and
She is tall,
She is great and
She is small.

She is brown eyed,
She is blue;
She is fickle,
She is true.

She is pink-cheeked,
She is pale;
She is healthy,
She is frail.

She is wealthy,
She is poor;
She is anything
But sure.

She is gowned in
White or blue,
Gray or pink or
Soft ecru.

She is fluffy,
She is trim,
As she may be
Plump or slim.

She is guileless,
She is wise;
Even stupid
When she tries.

She is dainty,
She is sweet,
In the house or
On the street.

She will flirt you
If she can;
So be wary,
Foolish man.

She's delightful,
But you'll learn
That she doesn't
"Care a dern."

She is all things
In a lump,
And she knows that
Man's a chump.
—(W. J. Lampton in New York Sun.

ONCE AND FOREVER.

Just once in life does life grow dear;
All things have but one prime;
One lovely season rules a year
Has but one summer-time.
But once each etnder violet springs,
To perish with the May;
But once each happy locust sings
His bithessome summer lay.

But once a dew drop on the earth
Reflects the morning skies;
So once in time a man has birth,
Beholdeth heaven and dies.
As in their coing time the doves
Mate once, and never part,
So only once in life he loves—
For man has but one heart.

Yet ever lives the endless race;
Spring sleeps to wake again;
New violets take their fatal place,
New locusts swarm in vain.
Forever perished memories start
Beneath the oblivious frost;
Forever pour from Nature's heart
The children of the lost.

And doth the new restore the old?
Fresh buds will burst, indeed,
But wakens from the winter's cold
The stalk that dropped their seed?
No; hope may watch at eve in vain;
The day has but one sun;
The universe cannot retain
A joy whose hour is done.
—(John B. Jewett.

(Life:) "Who is the master of this house?" asked the agent of the man who answered the ring.

"Well," was the curious response, in a resigned tone, "I am the husband and father."

The Times

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

It looks as though red tape is likely to save a murderer from being brought hither from New Jersey to be tried for the murder of a colored man. The colored population expresses great disapproval of the law's delay in bringing the slayer within reach of a murder trial.

There is a little agitation in Redlands as to who shall be the next principal of the Redlands grammar school. Redlands people hang together pretty well, but any city that some time in its history does not have a "school fight" must indeed be one of "Barnum's curiosities."

It may seem like a coincidence that Senator J. P. Jones should be favored with a new grand-daughter at about the same time that President Cleveland received his third daughter, but there does not seem to be any political significance in the fact. One event occurred at Santa Monica and the other at Buzzards' Bay.

The insurrection in Cuba will cut some figure in the lack of a supply of raw sugar to be sent to the United States to be refined. The island is, as it always has been, one of the chief sources of foreign supply of raw sugars. This fact should be an additional source of pleasure, as it will be of income, to the beet-sugar manufacturers of the United States.

San Diego county will soon have the biggest blowout ever exploded in Southern California when the powder in the face of a cliff at the Otay dam is touched off. Engineer Russell has a force of men digging an eighty-foot shaft, from which will run drifts, making in all 120 feet of tunneling. In these tunnels will be placed five tons of giant powder. It is estimated that the explosion will displace 500,000 tons of rock.

There is not a newspaper in the country, no matter what its politics, but offers its most graceful congratulations to Mrs. Cleveland and the President in matters of this character. Mrs. Cleveland is the first to be considered—on the advent of a new member to the President's household. The fact that the third little comer is another girl baby may possibly detract from the President's happiness, but, on the other hand, the President has reason to congratulate the public and himself that the little one can never become a President of the United States.

The greatest surprise to San Diegans since the boom was the influx of 2200 excursionists on Saturday. Aside from the immediate benefits caused by these visitors from the inland towns of Southern California, San Diego will have the advantage of being seen and appreciated by thousands of eyes that have never before seen and experienced the charms of the bay and climate. For instance, one of the leading men of Santa Ana remarked that, although he had lived in California thirty-five years within ninety miles of San Diego, he had never visited the bay until he joined the throng on Saturday's excursion.

"One thing is becoming clearer to me each trip I make to Los Angeles; it is that you people down here seem determined to be on top in California." That's what a yearly commercial traveler from San Francisco said yesterday to a Times' reporter. "You have more people on your streets than we have on ours, they all seem to have a defined purpose in view. Your street-car system, while not so extensive as ours, is really more extended, because it encourages people to go and settle on outside lands. Yes, you are a big people," and, as he swung onto a street car, he sung out, "Can't wait; am off to take an order."

THE MASHER'S FATE.

Burg Doomed to the Chain Gang for Thirty Days.

Harry Burg aspires to be assistant chief cook and dishwasher in the City Jail for the next thirty days, but Jailer Bleweke has decreed otherwise; he says the chain gang is good enough for a masher. Burg, it will be remembered, is the gay Lothario who tried to show a young housemaid how pretty she would look in a decolette toilette, and took liberties with other strange women folks while soliciting their orders for photographs. His freshness led to his arrest for disturbing the peace, to which charge he pleaded guilty last Saturday in the Police Court. Justice Morrison sentenced him yesterday to thirty days' imprisonment in the City Jail. As soon as he was conducted back to the prison he called for soap and water and began scrubbing his finger nails preparatory to becoming a kitchen scullion, as he fancied he should be, but the hard-hearted jailer, who is somewhat of a ladies' man himself, and has no patience with mashers who go about insulting ladies, has taken it into his head to assign Burg to duty in the chain gang. When the masher was apprised of his doom he turned pale around the gills, and stopped manicuring his nails forthwith.

ECHO MOUNTAIN HOUSE.

Last evening Echo Mountain House contained a party of notables, among whom were James B. Clews of Henry Clews & Co. of New York city, bankers of world-wide fame; Percival W. St. George, City Engineer of Montreal; A. P. Johnston, State Printer, of Sacramento, and R. B. F. Peirce of Indianapolis, a noted railroad man and receiver for several large roads. They were entertained by a ride over the new extension, just at twilight. The party were astonished at the view from there, and the scale with which things have been planned on Echo Mountain.

A SCHOLARSHIP.

A Los Angeles High School Graduate is Chosen.

Miss Thirsey Brookman, who graduated from the High School in '94, has received a scholarship at the State University, which will give her the benefit of a four years' college course.

Mrs. Phebe Hearst, the widow of George Hearst, the millionaire Senator from California, some years ago founded six scholarships for women at the University of California. She expressly situated that they should not be awarded upon a basis of mental ability. They must be given to deserving young women, who cannot take a college course unaided.

Last spring there were so many applications for the vacant scholarships that a plan was broached in the academic senate to increase their number from six to ten, and to decrease the emoluments from $300 to $180 per year. The appointments for the six original places were given to girls already in college. A promise was given to four other young women, among them Miss Brookman, that if the alteration was made they should have the new scholarships.

But Mrs. Hearst very wisely refused to permit the change, for she realized that $300 a year was not exactly a princely income, and that living on $180 would be so precarious an operation that the girls would be unfitted for good work. She told the faculty that she could not at present endow any more scholarships, but, anxious not to disappoint the four girls who had hoped for the change, she offered to give them their college education. Mrs. Hearst is a noble woman, and a constant friend of the University of California. She has done many kind things for it in the past, as sending an expedition of Lick astronomers to South America to observe a total eclipse of the sun, and has always done them quietly and unostentatiously. She is an honor to American womanhood.

Miss Brookman is one who will fully uphold the reputation of Los Angeles. She will do credit to Los Angeles, to the university, and to herself.

NEW MINING COMPANY.

An Important Matter—Strong Board of Directors.

Articles of incorporation of the Big Horn Gold Mining Company were filed yesterday in the office of the County Clerk of Los Angeles county. The nominal capital of the company is $2,000,000, which is all subscribed. The directors are: L. W. Blinn, Hon. Erskine M. Ross, Senator Stephen M. White, D. D. Ross, W. C. Reid, D. A. Macneil, James J. Mellus and Frank Moore. All the above-named gentlemen are residents of Los Angeles, with the exception of D. D. Ross, who resides in Arizona.

The officers elected by the company are: President, L. W. Blinn of the Blinn Lumber Company of Los Angeles and San Pedro; vice-president, Hon. Erskine M. Ross; secretary, D. A. Macneil; treasurer, W. C. Reed.

The mine is located near the headwaters of the San Gabriel River, in the San Gabriel Canyon, on North Baldy. The location was originally made by Charles Vincent and Ed Shipley, two well-known prospectors, in 1891. It seems that these two men had some time previous to that date found evidence of good ore in that district, but as the canyon was a difficult one to prospect in they did not find what they were looking for until 1891. What they did find at that time convinced them, after their samples had been assayed, that they had got what they were hunting for. The samples they brought down did not show any immense results, only $150 a ton, but then the big fact was, and it is always the big fact to a good miner, there was, as one of them phrased it, "Any God's quantity of the ore." The ore proved, under assay, to be free milling ore.

Vincent and Shipley, the discoverers of the ledge, kept the matter quiet, but they talked so big while trying to keep it secret that nobody would take "any stock" in what they said.

July of last year, 1894, on the representations of a mining expert, it was bonded by J. J. Mellus & Co. of Los Angeles for $50,000. Mr. Mellus promptly put eight men at work, run a tunnel 250 feet, cross-cutting the ledge on the 150-foot level. At that depth they found sixty-two feet of ore between the walls, which went to an average assay of $6 a ton, free milling gold ore. The walls showed solid slate on the foot and porphyry on the hanging wall.

Mr. Mellus, one of the directors of the company, in speaking of the mine, said they had already cross-cut the ledge on the surface for 1000 feet in length and find the same character of ore all through. They are now running a tunnel at the 400-foot level and at last accounts from the works the men were within sixty feet of the ledge. The probabilities are they will strike the ledge about the middle of next month. When they do this they will have developed, Mr. Mellus says, 1,000,000 tons of ore, which, under the assays made, will mill $5 a ton, at a maximum cost of $2 a ton for milling and mining.

It is said that the present owners of the mine were offered a large amount for it by Eastern capitalists, who were represented by a strong string of mining capitalists in San Francisco. The report of their own experts induced them to decline the offer and "play a lone hand." The distance of the location, in an air line, from Los Angeles is thirty miles. The directors have arranged to work the mine to its fullest possible extent and will have 200 men at work in it as soon as the requirements make them necessary, and erect a 100-stamp mill. One of the advantages acquired by the company is the immense water-power which exists and which, as they get the mine under way, they propose to utilize.

F. D. Layton of Tombstone, one of the best-known mining men on the Pacific Coast, has been chosen superintendent of the mine.

CHARGES AGAINST THE STREET SUPERINTENDENT SHELVED.

The Floating Rumors Against the Official Cause the Council to Go a Little Slow.

Wong Chuey is Sentenced to San Quentin for Life—Another Burglar Goes Over the Road.

Counterfeiters Before the District Court—Ten More Horses Stolen—Important Decision by Judge Van Dyke—Insane Man.

At the meeting of the City Council yesterday the matter of Councilman Kingery's charges against Street Superintendent Howard was brought up by the report of the special investigating committee, which had been unable to decide on the mooted question of veracity, but no action was taken, the matter being held open for further developments daily expected.

Things were a little livelier at the courts yesterday. The counterfeiters came before the District Court and pleaded. In the Superior Court Wong Chuey, the Chinese murderer, was sentenced to San Quentin for life. Judge Van Dyke gave an important decision involving some knotty points of law.

AT THE CITY HALL.

CITY COUNCIL.

The Street Superintendent's Actions to be Investigated.

The City Council met in regular session yesterday, all the members of the Council being present. A communication from the Board of Education was received and acted upon as follows:

"We recommend that in the Second Ward you purchase 120 feet, the lot adjoining Castelar-street school on the south, offered by E. Bouton, for $3500.

"We also request that you build a two-room school on the lot owned by the city on Bishop street.

"In the Third Ward, we recommend rejection of all sites and the readvertising for a site located between Fourth and Seventh streets, and Olive and Pearl streets.

"In the Fourth Ward, the following are recommended to be purchased: Lots 1, 2, 3, 12, 13, and 14, block I, Sentous tract, situated on the northwest corner of Pico and Sentous streets, offered by W. M. Heiatt for the sum of $6500; also the sites offered by Bradshaw Bros., situated on the southwest corner of Vernon and Cambria streets, being 200 feet on Cambria street, and 127 feet on Vernon street, and described as lots 1, 3, and 5, and part of lot 7, in block 11, Fairmount tract, provided the same can be secured for $5000; also the purchase of lot 7, west half of lot 8, block 2, Los Angeles Homestead tract, being 158 4-10 feet on Eighteenth street, between Union and Toberman streets, and offered by W. I. Hollingsworth for $3500."

The report was adopted, with the exception of the portion relating to a building on Bishop street. It not being certain that the lot on this street is owned by the city, the matter was referred to the Building Committee for investigation.

The appeal of F. C. Howes and others in the assessments of the sewer district south of Washington and west of Figueroa streets, was heard and considered by the Council. The first district of assessment contained a large number of clerical errors, and a new one had to be made. The principal objection, however, was made to the second assessment. On motion of Councilman Munson the entire matter was referred to the Sewer Committee.

In the matter of the protest against the opening of Avila street, action in the matter was deferred one week.

The report of the Street Superintendent asking that the city advertise for 100 tons of hay was referred to the Supply Committee.

The report of the Superintendent of Buildings, asking that a plat of each school site be furnished him, was referred to the City Engineer.

The various requisitions approved by the Supply Committee were granted by the Council with the exception of two requisitions from the Street Superintendent's department for asphaltum and the pay of laborers who are to perform work on the pavements of the city. The requisition for ten tons of asphaltum was cut down to two tons, and the demand of $300 for the payment of laborers was cut to $150. A decided objection was raised by a number of the Councilmen with regard to the expense which the city sustains in the repairing of the asphalt pavements by the Street Superintendent. It was in deference to these objections that the requisitions for asphaltum and labor were reduced by the Council.

The Supply Committee reported that in the matter of street signs asked for by the Street Superintendent, at 25 cents apiece, the committee find that the same can be procured for one-half the money, and recommend a requisition in accordance with these figures.

THE BRIBERY CASE.

The special committee appointed by the Council to investigate the charges of attempted bribery against Street Superintendent Howard, presented a report to the Council, with the testimony which was taken at the time of the investigation. The report simply set forth that the whole matter resolved itself into a question of veracity between Councilman Kingery and Street Superintendent Howard, which the committee did not feel competent to decide.

The question as to what disposition should be made of the report elicited some discussion, the feeling of the Council seeming to be that, while nothing further could be done in the bribery case, yet the rumors in circulation regarding alleged crookedness in the Street Superintendent's office demanded further investigation. Accordingly the president named a special committee, consisting of Councilmen Munson, Stockwell and Pessell, to perform the work of investigation. The committee will meet on Friday afternoon to hear the testimony of the witnesses who may be summoned in the case.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A Heavy Grist of Routine Business Transacted.

The report of the City Clerk was presented to the Council, stating that no protests had been received for the opening of Byram street and Fifteenth street, and it would therefore be in order to instruct the City Attorney to prepare the necessary ordinances and appoint the commissioners to act in the matter. This action was taken and the following commissioners were appointed: For Byram street, Thomas Holmes, Evan Lewis and George Furgeson; for Fifteenth street, A. E. Meggs, Joseph Hamilton and G. W. Retzer.

The report of the Fire Commissioners recommending the acceptance of the offer of a new engine house on Boyle avenue at a monthly rental of $45, was adopted.

The report of the Board of Public Works was also received and adopted, with the exception of the portion relating to an electric franchise, which the board had recommended granted, the same being re-referred to the Board of Public Works.

An invitation was received by the Council from the Park Commissioners to attend the opening of the new boat-house at Hollenbeck Park this afternoon. The invitation was accepted.

By Councilman Ashman that the Street Superintendent be instructed to notify parties using the strets and sidewalks in the neighbornood of Mateo, Bay and Le Grande streets for ditches, to quit using the same and place them in good condition. Adopted.

By Councilman Munson that the Street Superintendent be instructed to notify the Consolidated Street Car Company to move their poles on First street between Olive and Grand avenue, back to the curb line. Adopted.

By Councilman Snyder that the Street Superintendent be instructed to repair Temple street between Grand avenue and Bunker Hill avenue. Adopted.

By Councilman Munson that the City Clerk be authorized to again notify the City Waterworks Company to place the fire plugs ordered on Alvarado, Bonnie Brae and Westlake avenue. Adopted.

By Councilman Stockwell that the City Water Company be instructed to place a fire hydrant at Pasadena avenue and F street. Adopted.

By Councilman Snyder that a fire alarm box be placed on the corner of Fremont avenue and Temple street. Referred to Fire and Water Committee.

By Councilman Stockwell that the City Water Company be instructed to lay a four-inch pipe on Koster street from Pasadena avenue to Newton alley, on Newton alley to Newton avenue, and upon Newton avenue to Barranca street, also to place a fire hydrant at the intersection of Newton avenue and Barranca street. Adopted.

By Councilman Stockwell, that the City Water Company be instructed to place a fire hydrant at the intersection of Pasadena avenue and C street. Adopted.

By Councilman Pessell, that the Los Angeles Water Company be requested to make service connections to all lots on Main street, between Ninth and Twenty-eighth streets before the street is paved. CITY ATTORNEY'S REPORT.

The report of the City Attorney was received and acted upon as follows:

"As directed by you I have prepared and herewith present drafts of the following ordinances:

"An ordinance regulating the keeping of domestic fowls in certain limits of the city." Adopted.

"An ordinance fixing the monthly compensation of the members of the fire department of the city." Adopted.

"An ordinance providing for an additional assistant in the Superintendent of Buildings' office during the erection of the school buildings." Adopted.

"An ordinance vacating and abandoning a certain alley in the Fairmount tract." Adopted.

"I have prepared as directed and herewith report draft of a lease between the city and Mrs. Merced Abbott for engine-house property." Filed.

"The demand of D. S. Hutchings, Humane Officer for the sum of $10, being the amount of fine in People vs. S. L. Lazier, I return herewith with my approval." Referred to Finance Committee.

"George M. Vejar and others have brought a suit against the city to quiet the title to certain property in the vicinity of Eighth street and Stanford avenue. A portion of the property lies within the lines of Stanford avenue as shown upon the maps of the city, and it is claimed by the property-owners in the vicinity that this strip has been dedicated to street purposes. Upon our refusal to make a disclaimer in the action the plaintiffs have offered to give a strip of land which would make Stanford avenue sixty feet wide, while the street at all other points is about eighty feet wide. Before accepting or refusing this offer I deem it best to submit the matter to you." The City Attorney was instructed to insist upon eighty feet being given to the city for this street.

The report of the City Engineer was received and acted upon as follows:

"In the matter of the petition No. 855, F. O. Cass et al., for a sewer on Twenty-fifth street, between Main street and Maple avenue, and the protest No. 680, from L. Winter et al., against said sewer, I find that the petition represents 200 feet, the protest 816 feet. The frontage on the street between the said points is 2071 feet, a majority of which would be 1036 feet. I find that this street between these points is built up solidly, there being only five vacant lots, and the nature of the soil is such that it retains the sewage. I would therefore recommend that this matter be referred to the Health Officer." Referred to the Sewer Committee.

"In the matter of the protest of Mrs. McKee, No. 704, against the improvement of First street, between Broadway and Hill streets, I find that said protest represents a frontage of forty feet out of a total frontage on said street between said points of 660 feet." Protest received and will be heard July 15.

"Ordinance of intention to construct a sewer on First street, from Flower street to Hope street, and along Hope street from First street to a point 190 feet northerly of the north line of First street." Adopted.

"Ordinance of intention to grade, gravel, and gutter and construct a cement curb and walk on Olive street, between Pico and Fourteenth streets, said work to be done under the bond act." Adopted.

"I herewith submit an estimate of the probable cost of said improvements per front foot on each side of said street: At a total of $1.86 per front foot."

"Ordinance of intention to construct a sewer on Eleventh street, from Olive street to a point on Eleventh street, 185 feet easterly." Adopted.

"Ordinance of intention to establish the grade of Gallado street, from Macy street to Mission road." Adopted.

"In the matter of the petitions, Nos. 641 and 642, J. C. Ivins et al., asking for a change of grade on the west side of Grand avenue, between First and Second, streets, and the north side of Second street, between Grand avenue and Bunkerhill avenue, I find that petitioners have a frontage of 585 feet out of a total frontage of 626 feet, which would be affected by said change. I therefore present herewith the necessary ordinance of intention to change the grade of said streets between said points." Adopted.

"I herewith present specifications for the construction of a concrete retaining wall at the west end of the Buena Vista-street bridge, and recommend their adoption. I would also recommend the immediate construction of said wall." Referred to the Bridge Committee.

"I beg leave to call the attention of your honorable body to the condition of the Kuhrts-street bridge. I find that the floor-beams are full of dry rot, the iron plates that support said beams are shearing through, and it is necessary to replace the same at once. I therefore present herewith an estimate of the material and probable cost of said repairs at a total of $1257.95. In connection with the above I beg leave to call your attention to the necessity of replacing the retaining wall at the west approach of said Buena Vista-street bridge; please authorize me to draw up plans and specifications for the same." Referred to the Bridge Committee.

"Some time ago I was instructed to establish the grades of Castelar street from Bellevue avenue to Walters street. I find that said grade was established by ordinance No. 637, published October 11, 1887. Final ordinance establishing the grade of Alameda street from First to Second streets." Received and filed.

"Final ordinance changing and establishing the grade of the west side of Grand avenue, from Second to Third streets." Adopted.

"I beg leave to call your attention to the east approach of the Buena Vista-street bridge. This was originally constructed of short, fink trussbands, the truss being beneath and narrower than the roadway above. When the Terminal Railroad was constructed in order to make the necessary headway, the fink trusses were removed, and a new truss placed overhead. If these trusses had been placed directly over the lower chords it would have contracted the roadway about six feet, and in order to get the necessary roadway the trusses were placed at the extreme ends of the cape about three feet beyond the vertical supports. I ask authority to remedy these defects by putting in the necessary supports at an expense not to exceed $100." Referred to the Bridge Committee.

The Council then adjourned to meet on Wednesday at 2 o'clock.

Library Directors Meet.

The regular meeting of the board of library directors was held yesterday afternoon. The only business of importance coming before the board was the receiving and auditing of the Librarian's monthly report, which was as follows: Circulation of books, 42,000; increase in library membership, 338; total membership, 20,345; books added, 47; books discarded, 40; books to July 1, 41,185; magazines added, 1; books mended, 2496; books rebound, 409; donations, 55; notices sent, 807; days open, 30.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

THE COURTS.

Wong Chuey Sent Up for His Natural Life.

Wong Chuey is to spend the remainder of his earthly career within the walls of San Quentin, always provided that some tender-hearted and accommodating Governor does not release him.

The little Chinaman was brought up yesterday before Judge Smith to receive sentence, the motion for a new trial having been denied, and he took his fate with true oriental stoicism.

One gleam of wit that might have done credit to a native of the Emerald Isle flashed out when the Judge asked him whether he had any choice between San Quentin and Folsom as a place of residence. The interpreter rendered the question into Chinese, and Wong Chuey demurely replied that he would much prefer not to go to either place. This was but natural, but it was a case of "the Chinaman must go," so the little malefactor was sentenced to San Quentin for the term of his natural life.

A stay of twenty days was granted to the counsel for the defendant, in which to draft a bill of exceptions.

YUDART AGAINST CORONEL.

An Opinion Which Will be Interesting to Lawyers.

Judge Van Dyke yesterday handed down an opinion interesting to lawyers. It was in the case of Francisco Yudart vs. A. F. Coronel, and was a decision upon the motion to strike from the files the written notice of intention to move for a new trial, on the ground that the notice of intention to move for a new trial was not filed or served within the time required by the Code of Civil Procedure, and that the plaintiff and his attorneys had abandoned and waived their intention to move for a new trial.

A consideration of the motion makes it necessary to pass upon two questions of practice interesting to the profession and somewhat unsettled. First, what notice or waiver of notice will set the time running within which to give notice of motion for a new trial? Second, is a motion to strike out a notice, if not given in time, a proper practice, or must that objection be reserved and taken advantage of when the motion for a new trial comes up?

The case was tried on October 13, 1891, findings and judgment being ordered for the defendants; and on May 21, 1895, a notice of intention to set aside and vacate this decision was served and filed, on the grounds of newly-discovered evidence and the insufficiency of the evidence to justify the decision, and that it is against law.

In this case it appears that no written notice of the findings were ever served or filed, and, therefore, it is contended on the part of the plaintiff that the time for giving notice of motion for a new trial has not run; whereas, it is claimed on the part of the defendant that actual notice or waiver of notice is equivalent to written notice in this respect.

Many cases are cited by Judge Van Dyke as illustrations, and many authorities quoted, his decision finally being that the better rule is for the trial court to pass upon the questions leading up to the motion for new trial as they are presented. If it appear that the notice of motion for new trial be not served and filed in time, the court would therefore, have no jurisdiction, and the successful party is entitled to the judgment of the court accordingly; or, if the notice should have been given in time, and the statement be not proposed in time, then, as shown, the judge should not be required to settle or consider it for any purpose. In either case, upon proper motion, the party is entitled to the order of the court striking the useless paper from the files as encumbering the record.

For the reasons stated in the decision the defendant's motion in the case was granted.

A Lively Picnic.

Much innocent enjoyment indulged in at the Swiss picnic at Sycamore Grove about a month ago, has brought a grist into Department One which is just being ground.

Charles Bon, a youthful Swiss gentleman with pugnacious tendencies, so far forget himself as to playfully tap George Kinley on the back of the head with a soda-water bottle to the serious inconvenience of the said Kinley.

Bon, being an employee in H. W. Stoll's establishment, was evidently handling a familiar weapon, and, in this case, it was most effectual. The picnic turned out to have been a free-for-all fight, however, so the jury allowed Mr. Bon sixty days in which to meditate on the vanity of human affairs, within the quiet precincts of the County Jail.

R. H. Healy, an ex-railroad man, was also implicated in the melee, and took occasion to caress a fellow-being with a set of iron knuckles. His trial is next on the programme.

More Horses Stolen.

Sheriff Burr and his officers are again on the war-path after horse-thieves. Notices have come in from various quarters of ten horses which have disappeared to parts unknown. Six of these are the property of O. R. Elftman of Compton, and every effort is being made for their recovery. The old days of California seem to have returned, and telegraph poles may again receive some striking effects in the way of decoration.

Burro Technicalities.

A. A. Morley and Dan Redican, convicted last Saturday of annexing three burros and the accompanying saddles, were yesterday sentenced by Judge McKinley to six months in the County Jail.

The donkey-stealers were of a practical and business-like turn of mind, and summarily disposed of legal circumlocution by the following appeal for prompt action in the case:

"Prosecuting Attorney, Department Six.—Dear Sir: If possible have us arraigned for sentence today. I and Mr. Morley have concluded to dispense with our attorney. Our business is in a critical condition, and we have no time to spare lawyers to air their legal ignorance on burro technicalities. Please act immediately in our behalf and confer a favor.

Yours respectfully,

D. S. REDICAN.
A. A. MORLEY.

Action was prompt, and the "favor" was conferred without loss of time.

Homicidal Mania.

William E. Patterson, a middle-aged carpenter, was yesterday committed to Highland by Judge McKinley. He is the victim of homicidal mania, inherited from his father, and, for the past year, has been subject to attacks of epilepsy. Patterson has lucid intervals in which he recognizes perfectly his own condition, and the danger of his being allowed to remain at large. THE UNLUCKY NUMBER.

Thirteen Passengers Caused the Patrol Wagon to Collapse.

Between 2 and 3 o'clock Monday morning, Officers Stephenson and Stewart captured eleven hobos who were sleeping in a barn on Requena street. Officers Stites and Ritch started to bring them in with the patrol-wagon, and got them all safely into the vehicle, but the eleven hobos and two officers made the number of passengers thirteen. Of course there was an accident. They had not proceeded far before one of the wheels collapsed, and the unlucky thirteen took a sudden drop. They all walked to the station.

The other patrol wagon was already in the shop for repairs, so yesterday an express wagon had to be used to haul in the prisoners.

Eleven appears to be a lucky number, for when the eleven hobos were arraigned for vagrancy in the Police Court yesterday afternoon, every mother's son of them was discharged.

REEVE WILL CASE.

JUDGE CLARK GRANTS THE MOTION FOR NON-SUIT.

A Decision In the Probate Court Which Declares That Legatees Who Are Heirs-at-law Cannot Contest a Will.

Judge W. H. Clark yesterday gave this decision non-suiting the contest of the Reeve will. This opinion is important as affecting the right of mere legatees to contest a will:

"The decedent, Abigail W. Reeve, died on the 6th day of January of this year, leaving an estate of the proximate value of $3500. She was a resident of this county at the time of her death and left surviving her as next of kin Richard Reeve, a brother. On January 19, 1895, a petition was filed herein, asking that a certain document purporting to be the last will of the deceased, executed on the 30th day of October, 1894, be admitted to probate. This instrument bequeaths the bulk of the estate to George W. Mitchell in trust to pay the income therefrom to the said Richard Reeve during his life with power vested in him, the said beneficiary to dispose of $1000 by will. There is a bequest of $2000 to Emma Mitchell, the cousin of deceased, to take effect after the death of the said Richard Reeve and some minor legacies and bequests, including one of a rocking chair to Curtis W. Reeve, a son of said Richard Reeve.

"To this petition for probate a contest was filed by the said Curtis W. Reeve and by Abigail M. Reeve, nephew and niece of the deceased and children of the said Richard Reeve. This contest alleges, in substance, that the said will of date October 30, 1894, was procured through the undue influence and fraud of the said George Mitchell and Emma Mitchell; that at the time of its execution the deceased, Abigail W. Reeve was not of sound mind; that the will was not signed by her nor by any one in her presence and by her direction; and that it was not attested by two witnesses who signed their names as such in the presence of the deceased and at her request. The contest further alleges that in January, 1894, the deceased made a will and that the contestants here were named therein as legatees. There is, however, no allegation of the contents of said will and no petition or proceeding by which this court would have jurisdiction to admit said will to probate, assuming it to be entitled to probate as a lost or destroyed will. Upon this contest a jury trial was demanded, a jury impanelled and evidence introduced by the plaintiffs, the contestants, in support of the issues presented by the contest and the answer thereto.

"The plaintiffs having rested, the proponent now moves for a non-suit. The grounds upon which the motion is based may be briefly summarized as follows:

"1. There is no allegation or proof that the will offered for probate was procured by undue influence or fraud.

"2. That there is no proof that at the time of its execution the deceased was of unsound mind; and

"3. That there is no allegation or proof showing a right in these contestants to contest the probate of said will.

"If these contestants have a standing in court and are parties interested, having the right to contest the probate of the will, then it would seem clear that this motion should be denied. For, while I am inclined to the opinion that the allegations of the complaint in contest alleging or attempting to allege fraud and undue influence are insufficient, and if sufficient, the plaintiffs have failed to sustain the burden resting upon them of proving the affirmative of these issues; yet I am of opinion that there is evidence of want of testamentary capacity sufficient prima facie to go to the jury. And were this not so, still as the complaint in contest and answer thereto raise issues, the burden of proving which rests upon the proponent (i. e., the issues involving the signing and the witnessing of the will,) and which must be proven by him before probate be granted, it would follow that the motion would necessarily be denied.

"The only question, therefore, to be considered upon the motion is the question whether the plaintiffs have capacity to sue, or, in other words, have they such an interest as will entitle them to be heard in opposition to the probate of the will. The law regulating the probate of wills and the management and distribution of estates of deceased persons is so much a matter of statute law that the decisions of the courts of other States adjudicating who are entitled to be heard in opposition to the probate of a proffered will afford but little aid. I have examined with care all of the decisions cited by counsel and a large number of decisions not cited and bearing upon the question. The rule of many of the cases cited is that no one but an heir of the deceased can be admitted to contest the probate of a proffered will, while some of the authorities somewhat loosely state the rule to be that any one who is entitled to be heard in support of the probate of a will is entitled to be heard in opposition to it. In no case that I have examined, however, has it been held that one is a party interested and entitled to caveat against or contest the probate of a proffered will unless the admission of the will to probate would affect his pecuniary status to its detriment. And, indeed, it would seem to be a fundamental principle resting upon sound reason that no one should be heard in support of, or against any order or judgment unless such order or judgment would work an injury or result in a benefit to him. Here the father of these contestants, though whom they claim kinship with the deceased, being alive they are not the next of kin or heirs of the deceased, and were it to be adjudicated that she died intestate they would take nothing. Their father, the said Richard Reeve, would be her heir; and, as said in Tarr vs. Hosmer, 'no case has been cited and we presume none exists which would favor any pretense of a right to interfere with the disposition of property by one because he is next of kin to the heir.' It is apparent, therefore, that the interest of these contestants, if any they have, is dependent upon the establishment of the prior will alleged to have been executed in January, 1894, and under which, if established, they would each take a legacy of $1000. That will, however, has not been probated or offered for probate, and, as said before, its validity cannot be determined in this proceeding. When speaking to this point counsel for plaintiffs said in argument that they would cross that bridge when they came to it, but as the rule is well settled that no devisee or legatee in a will can make any claim to an interest or title based upon such devise or legacy until the will be established, it would seem that the path of the plaintiffs leads to that bridge first, and that it must be crossed before an attack can be made by them upon the later will here offered. The fact that these proceedings are before the court sitting as a court of probate can make no difference in the rule above stated, unless the court has jurisdiction to determine the validity of the will under which contestants claim, and, as stated, no steps have been taken to give the court such jurisdiction. There would have been no difficulty in presenting both sides of this controversy in a manner that would have enabled the court to pass upon the validity of both wills and determine which, if either, was the true will of the deceased. This, however, can only be done by presenting the will of January, 1894, for probate; and this the beneficiaries under said will, the contestants here, have failed to do. But even if it be admitted that the court has, in this proceeding, as incident to its power to determine the validity of the proffered will, the power to determine the validity of the prior will of January, 1894, the result there would be the same. It will not be contended that the contestants are parties interested by reason of such prior will unless the evidence here is sufficient to show that such prior will would be entitled to probate were it offered, and the evidence is not sufficient. Sec. 1339 C. C. P. provides that 'No will shall be proved as a lost or destroyed will unless the same is proved to have been in existence at the time of the death of the testator, or is shown to have been fraudulently destroyed in the lifetime of the testator, nor unless its provisions are clearly and distinctly proved by at least two credible witnesses.' Here the provisions of the will of January, 1894, were proved by two witnesses, but it is not shown to have been in existence at the time of the death of the testatrix, nor to have been fraudulently destroyed in her lifetime. The evidence shows that in October, 1893, it was in the possession of John McDonald; that he delivered it to the deceased and that she destroyed it. The point made by plaintiff's counsel that because of the bequest in the proffered will of a rocking-chair to the contestant, Curtis W. Reeve, that therefore he has a right to oppose the probate of the will, is, in my opinion, without merit. Sec. 1307, C. C. P., declares that any person interested may appear and contest the will. Because the section also declares that heirs, legatees and devisees may contest through their guardians or attorneys appointed by the court, it should not be construed to mean that a legatee to whom a small legacy is given, but who, if the will should be declared invalid, would take nothing, has such an interest as would entitled him to contest the will. Such a bequest would give him an interest that would entitle him to support the probate of the will, but to hold that he had thereby an interest in defeating the will would be illogical and unreasonable. Upon this point the reasoning of Biles vs. Dean, supra, where it was held that a person who takes more under a will than he would take were there no will, is not a 'person interested,' and therefore authorized to contest, applies. I am of opinion that the non-suit should be granted, and the contest dismissed, and it so ordered."

AVALON (Catalina Island,) July 8.—(By Homing Pigeon Flying Jib of the Catalina Carrier Piegon Service to The Times.) H. O'Fallon of New York, who is at the Metropole, accompanied by Mrs. O'Fallon, is an enthusiastic expert with rod and reel, having fished in the waters round about Panama, on the Atlantic Coast and in the famous trout streams of the Adirondacks. Mr. O'Fallon came to Catalina fully equipped for piscatorial sport, having brought a complete set of fishing tackle and a canvas boat snugly packed in a long, shallow trunk made for the purpose. This taut little craft weighs just forty pounds, and was yesterday taken out of its packing case, put together and launched.

Mr. O'Fallon has begun his record by hauling in three yellowtails, two of which weighed fifteen pounds each and the third thirteen pounds.

Dr. Johnson and Stuart M. Beard went to San Clemente in the Fleetwing today on a two days' fishing excursion.

A movable frame with rack, block and tackle for hoisting jewfish has been put up on the beach by Photographer Waite for the purpose of more conveniently photographing big catches of fish. This is a favorite method with anglers of substantiating their claims to phenomenal catches.

A handsome and artistic dove cote has been put up in one corner of the grounds fronting the Metropole, next the entrance, for the carrier pigeons, which attract much attention. The pigeons are liberated from this cote each day, bearing the Times message.

NICHOLSON'S COOP.

Hen Thief Doomed to Roost in the City Jail.

Chickens will come home to roost, but it is different with human bipeds sometimes. It will be three months at least before J. M. Nicholson will roost at home, for he has just been condemned to 120 days' imprisonment in the City Jail for getting too familiar with his neighbors' hen-roosts. His conviction was on one charge, stealing six chickens only; another is pending against him and a third was dismissed on a technicality. Should he be found guilty and be given a similar sentence on the second count, which charges him with stealing twelve fowls, Nicholson will be cock of the walk in the City Prison, if he is sentenced in proportion, and length of time to serve is a badge of distinction in that institution. Although the evidence against Nicholson was conclusive he put the city to the expense of a jury trial, which consumed the greater part of a day. Justice Owens, therefore, thought it but just that he should reimburse the city by performing about $120 worth of labor in the chain-gang.

GOODNESS is the supreme test in baking powders, and Dr. Price's alone meets it.

THE VALLEY ROAD.

The Work is Progressing—Northern Pacific Securities.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The laying of Valley road rails will soon begin. The work of unloading the 2000 tons or more of railroad iron which the Washtenaw brought out from New York commenced this afternoon, and will be pushed forward with all possible rapidity, as the directors of the new railroad company wish to place their material on the ground where it is needed as soon as possible. As the rails and fish-plates are taken from the steamer they will be loaded on barges and immediately sent up the bay and the San Joaquin River to Stockton. The first cargo will probably go tomorrow.

Bids for the grading of the first section of the road were received at Stockton this afternoon and the award will probably be made at once. Proposals were also received this afternoon in this city for the supplying of the necessary lumber. It is the intention to lose no time whatever in beginning the actual work of laying track.

NORTHERN PACIFIC CONSOLS.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Purchases of Northern Pacific consolidated fives, which, on Friday, sold at the lowest price touched for these bonds since the return of Villard from Europe, when the rise started, are traced to certain leading interests in the Northern Pacific Company closely identified with the Great Northern. The opinion is that people connected with the Adams committee have been selling their bonds and that they were bought by other Northern Pacific people, who bought large amounts when the idea of closer relations between the Northern Pacific and Great Northern was first mooted. The Adams committee, or that portion of the Adams committee in favor of the original plan of reorganization, is still understood to be positive in its ideas as to the impossibility of the London agreement being carried out. The Adams statement Wednesday continues to provoke comment in view of the denials it has caused in other quarters.

THE CHINA BASIN LEASE.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The representative directors of the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley road and the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, including Gov. Budd and Mayor Sutro, agreed this afternoon upon the form of lease of the China Basin as a terminus for the new road. The lease was then signed.

JACOBY BROS

RIVERSIDE COUNTY.

Funeral of a Prominent Citizen—The Riemer Dam.

RIVERSIDE, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) The funeral of W. C. Kennedy, whose death was mentioned in these columns as having occurred at Rockland, Me., last Friday, occurred yesterday at that place. Mr. Kennedy came to Riverside for his health about two years ago, and engaged in the drug business in the Loring Block, which business he still owned at his death. He improved somewhat for a year or more, but the dread disease, consumption, had gained too much of a hold upon him to be battled successfully even by the climate of Southern California, and he finally commenced failing rapidly. Two months were spent in Los Angeles, and then three weeks at Indio, but receiving no relief, he determined to reach his old home, Rockland, if possible, before dying. Accompanied by his wife he started east about five weeks ago.

Frank A. Gardner, since the commencement of Mr. Kennedy's rapid decline, has had power of attorney to manage the business, and the drug store will be continued under the same management indefinitely. It is doubtful whether Mrs. Kennedy will return to Riverside, as her people, as well as Mr. Kennedy's, all live in and about Rockland, and she will likely remain with them. During Mr. Kennedy's residence in Riverside, he made many friends, and was looked upon as a valuable citizen.

Deputy Sheriff Dickson had an opportunity this morning of showing his sprinting ability. He was in charge of the insane man Tuell, whom he was taking from the County Jail to the Superior Court for examination, when Tuell made a dash for liberty, and he proved to be a pretty good runner. But it was demonstrated that those rather lengthy legs of the deputy sheriff were of some use, as after a lively sprinting contest of about three hundred yards the man with wheels in his head was overtaken, and landed safely before Judge Noyes.

The case of the People vs. A. Jepson has been dismissed on motion of Prosecuting Attorney Crowe. This is the case in which Jepson was charged with an assault with intent to commit murder last April, when one Baker was shot in the leg by Jepson, the father of the girl whom it is asserted Baker seduced. Jepson had been previously tried, and the jury disagreed, eight being for acquittal and four for simple assault. It was pretty evident from the circumstances of the case that it would be next to impossible to find a jury in the county that would agree to visit any punishment upon Jepson.

A. S. Collins, well known in this city, and for some time a resident of San Bernardino, has purchased an interest in the Eighth-street meat market, and took charge today.

Work has been resumed on the Hemet dam in the San Jacinto Mountains, and the 15,000 barrels of cement now at the Hemet depot will soon be transferred to the dam site. The dam will be increased in height form 110 feet to 150.

Assessor J. S. Jarvis has turned in to the Auditor his report of amounts collected on poll tax for June, which shows 941 road polls and 1790 State. This ends up the total for the year, making 1472 road and 3214 State, or a total of 4680. This represents, at $2 each, $9360. The increase over last year is 290 road and 76 State polls.

S. R. Tuell, mentioned a few days since as having been arrested on a charge of insanity and turned over to his family physician, Dr. Morrell, was again brought before Judge Noyes this morning and committed to the asylum on the testimony of Drs. Morrell and Baird, it having been found impossible to better his condition here. Since the arrest before he had attempted to commit suicide.

Mrs. Catherine Ellis, who has been enjoying coast climate for a while, is again at home with her daughter, Mrs. Samo, of this city.

There will be another meeting at the Y.M.C.A. parlors on Wednesday evening to attempt to organize a temperance council. All church organizations and other societies desiring can send delegates. The dog-catcher is abroad in the land, and in consequence quite a number of owners of canines are waltzing up to the Marshal's office and securing a tax receipt.

The case of J. W. Rawson, arrested last week for passing a forged check, came up before Justice Chambers this morning, and by request of the young man's father, a well-to-do and highly-respected citizen of the eastern portion of the county, the preliminary examination went over until next Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

Judge J. A. Gibson of San Diego was in the city on legal business Saturday. The Judge's many friends here are always glad to see him.

POMONA.

POMONA, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) The "Woman's Christian Mission Board" held its session in the Christian Church here on Sunday evening before a large audience. The programme of services was a varied one and proved very interesting—one anthem by a chorus of singers, and a recitation being two of the numbers that were especially admired, while short, pointed quotations from eminent missionaries and a paper upon the work of the W.C.B.M. in this State as well as the praise service, showing woman's connection, as commissioned in the book of holy writ, therewith held the close attention of the interested audience.

Workmen have commenced in good earnest upon the structure, corner Libbie and Thomas streets, just north of the Southern Pacific Depot and beyond the reservation, to be occupied by the planing-mill of Stout & Bishop, who have to vacate their present location in order that the McComas new block of brick stores may be erected on said site. Also, a substantial awning is being built along the south side of the Hausler-Rutan block, just finished.

A favorite mode of reaching San Antonio Canyon these days by the young men, is to board a train with their bicycles for Ontario, then by motor to head of Euclid avenue, from which point they wheel to this lovely resort for many a tired inhabitant of the valley, just below its mouth.

The local retail dealers are reporting the receipts of blackberries as already diminishing—in fact scarce. This is, it seems, very early for such a state in the market.

The truck gardeners in this vicinity claim that it will be at least two weeks yet before the ever-welcome watermelon will come into market.

Scarcely a day passes now that one or more prairie schooners, appropriately equipped for camp life, do not make their way through Pomona either for the mountains or some of the Coast resorts.

The motor seems to have been relieved by a bus and four-in-hand plying between this point and North Pomona today.

It is reported that Mr. Greenlaw of this city, and recently of the firm of Goodrich & Greenlaw, on the strength of the Southern Pacific road through Covina soon, thinks of establishing himself there in business.

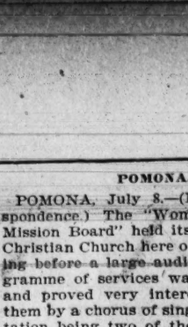
LOOK OUT FOR BREAKERS AHEAD



when pimples, eruptions, boils, and like manifestations of impure blood appear. They wouldn't appear if your blood were pure and your system in the right condition. They show you what you need—a good blood-purifier; that's what you get when you take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It carries health with it. All Blood, Skin and Scalp Diseases, from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula, are cured by it. It invigorates the liver and rouses every organ into healthful action. In the most stubborn forms of Skin Diseases, such as Salt-rheum, Eczema, Tetter, Erysipelas, Boils and kindred ailments, and with Scrofula, in every shape, and all blood-taints, no matter from what cause arising, it is an unequaled remedy.

SCROFULOUS ABSCESSES.

Mrs. BELLE SWEENEY, of Rail Top, Mercer Co., W. Va., writes: "About four years ago I took scrofula, and did everything that doctors and others prescribed, but only got worse. Several abscesses formed about my neck and breast, discharging a quantity of matter. I got so weak I could scarcely walk about the house. I read all the medical works I could get hold of, and, among the rest, read some of your works. You described my case, and recommended Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with his 'Pleasant Pellets.' So I procured some and commenced using them and soon began to mend. In six months my sores were all healed up. I am forty-five years old and believe I am as stout as I ever was in my life. I used about one dozen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' with the 'Pellets,' and used nothing else after I began using your medicines."

The National Bank of California is one of the few banks that successfully stood the shock of the late panic and maintained full coin payments right through.

The National Bank of California pays no interest on deposits in any form, offers no special inducements for business other than reliability when the customers exercise their right to demand their money.

PASADENA.

SIGNS OF GREAT PROSPERITY IN THE CROWN CITY.

Sudden Death of a Gardener—Man of Many Mishaps—The Litigation Over the Perrine Paving Company's Check—Work for the Police—Notes and Personals.

PASADENA, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) That Pasadena is to all appearances prosperous, the most careful observer would certainly assert. Upon every hand evidences of that prosperity are seen in the handsome new business structures in process of erection here. Two large business buildings are being built within a stone's throw of one another, and, in one of them at least, nearly every office has already a prospective tenant. New stores are being opened in the business part of town to supply local trade, and residences of all dimensions and every grade of value are being constructed in various portions of the town. The most of these houses are of a good quality, and some of them are what might be called fine houses. But all of these visible indications of prosperity do not speak so plainly of the resources of the town as the fact that in the four banks on the first day of July, there was on deposit in round figures $1,103,780. One of these banks, a savings institution, is just three months old, and it has on deposit $41,000, an average of more than $10,000 a month since its doors were opened. Those who think that lack of money makes what is called "hard times" should study these figures. An average of nearly $90 in cash for every man, woman and child in the community represents a wealth surplus nearly double the usual average. With 3500 heads of families, as estimated by the directory, the average for every family is about $360. During the year just past, $1,214,726 worth of real property changed hands here, most of the sales being for purposes of improvement. The entire real estate valuation of the town is estimated at $16,000,000, and it is one of the most orderly and law-abiding towns of its size in the United States. We are prosperous, but not proud, and, that we may not be accused of boasting, present figures, as it is well known that figures, except the kind that is in the chorus on the stage, don't lie.

SUDDEN DEATH.

About 9 o'clock this morning a young son of Mr. Clarke, who lives upon Adella avenue, went into his father's barn and found on the floor of one of the stalls the dead body of John Tait, a gardener who lived about a block distant, and who kept his horse in Mr. Clarke's barn. The lad notified Mr. Ballard, a neighbor, who summoned Mrs. Tait. Dr. Grinnell was called, and pronounced the man dead and information of the circumstances was given to the proper authorities. The body was found reclining upon a pile of sacks and rubbish, apparently more as if the man had fallen there, than if he had lain down, and, as the body was covered, except the head and feet with an old sack, and there was a slight wound over the forehead, the indications pointed at first to murder or suicide. At 2 o'clock a coroner's jury, consisting of W. P. Young, George Johnson, S. B. Tubbs, G. F. Blackburn, William Shibley and W. Barto was impaneled, and the result of the post mortem examination, which had been prosecuted by Coroner Campbell and Dr. Swearingen was made known to them. It was found that the deceased came to his death from an internal hemorrhage of the lungs. Mr. Tait was an intelligent, hard-working Scotchman, 36 years old, who had served in the Highlander's Regiment in Egypt, the Soudan and India, and who had many thrilling experiences during his checkered career. When the new Los Angeles Courthouse was in process of construction, he was employed in some capacity about the work, and fell a distance of thirty feet, striking upon his head, and sustaining severe injuries. Last fall he was driving Mr. Chisholm's wagon along Villa street when he fell to the ground, striking his head against the iron rail of the street railroad track, and was picked and carried home unconscious. He seemed in his usual health when he left home about 7 o'clock Sunday night, to go up to Henry Reynold's place, where he was employed as gardener. He remained there but a few moments, then went to the barn, presumably to care for his horse. His wife sat up and waited for him until about 3 a.m., wondering at his absence, but not imagining that any harm could befall him, and was sadly shocked by the news of his death. She is left in straitened circumstances, with two children to care for. The Foresters, of which order Tait was a member, will have charge of the services at the grave of the unfortunate man.

CITY COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the City Council this afternoon was brief and uninteresting, devoted entirely to regular routine business. Trustees Lukens, Washburn, and President Cox were present, Trustees Weed and Hamilton absent. The reply of the electric road, granting the request of the Trustees for the running of cars northward on Fair Oaks avenue and southward on Raymond for the period of three months, was received and placed on file. All library bills up to date were audited and ordered paid. Resolutions of intention affecting two alleys, the one adjacent to Union street, the other contiguous to Broadway and California street, were adopted. The City Engineer was instructed to establish the grade of Locust street, between Raymond and Fair Oaks avenue. The application of S. W. Barnett for the foremanship of the sewer farm in case of vacancy was received and filed, as was also George Edward Hutchins's appeal from the assessment for street work. S. J. Edwards was awarded the contract for the sewer on Worcester avenue, the price being $749 for the work complete. Trustee Lukens recommended the purchase of a chemical engine for the use of the fire department, and that the Trustees look into the merits of the various engines of that sort.

THE PERRINE PAVING CASE.

Some time ago the Perrine Paving Company put in a couple of bids, in answer to an advertisement of the City Trustees, for certain jobs of street-paving. As an earnest of good faith, the bids were accompanied, as is usual in such cases, with certified checks, and as these pieces of work were important ones, the aggregate of the surety was $3000. The contract was, accordingly, awarded them. The property-owners along the proposed line of work "kicked" most vigorously against it, and declared that they would never pay a cent of the assessment, which they claimed was far too high. So earnest was their protest that Mr. Perrine became frightened at the prospect of litigation and withdrew his bid. In the meantime, anticipating his failure to fulfil his contract, Trustee Weed demanded of the City Clerk the checks, and Mr. Dyer, without knowing what the intentions of the Trustees were in the matter, allowed them to go out of his hands, contrary to the requirements of the law. Judge Weed, who was at the time president of the Council, deposited the checks with the Pasadena National Bank for collection. The collection was made, and, a few days thereafter, Mr. Perrine gave orders that payment should be stopped on the checks, but too late. He then proceeded to sue the city for the amount, and won the suit, which was accordingly appealed to the Supreme Court. A second suit has just been instituted by Mr. Perrine against Trustees Lukens and Weed as individuals, to cover the costs of the first case, with the attendant attorney's fees. Judge Weed is out of town, but Trustee Lukens says that in case Mr. Perrine wins his point he shall enter a suit against the city for the amount claimed, as he acted as the business agent of the Council, and simply obeyed its instructions.

THE FORCE.

In a recent mention in this column of the number of men on the night police force of Pasadena, it was stated that there is at present but one officer in the employ of the city upon the force. This statement was not meant to reflect in any way upon the merchant patrol, which, under Officer Orr, is maintained with a vigilance and efficiency above criticism. But Officer Orr can hardly be considered as a city officer, as he receives but $25 monthly from the city, although he is an active aid to Officer Goltman, and assists him in arrests when his help is necessary, and co-operates with him within the fire limits, in all police matters. The Mayor says it is designed to have three policemen on duty at night, yet if three are necessary in the daytime, it is thought by many citizens but reasonable that three should be on duty at night, and five would be better than three, in order that the most arduous part of the work should be done in shifts, and none of the night officers be subjected to twelve-hour duty. Twelve hours at night is said to be equal to about sixteen hours a day in the strain upon the physical system, and there are few people who will maintain that policemen should be on constant duty sixteen hours a day.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

The members of the Marengo-avenue, Delphi and South Pasadena Chautauqua circles are taking a practical method of studying archaeology. They have arranged to visit the chalk hills between South Pasadena and Los Angeles Tuesday and will leave at 8 o'clock in the morning, meeting at the corner of Colorado street and Fair Oaks avenue for that purpose. The party will be officered by Delos Arnold, Dr. Reid and Mr. Gaylord, and all persons interested in the subject will be welcome. A hatchet, a chisel or palette knife and a lunch will be the marching equipment, and the "marching" itself will be done on the street car, as far as practicable.

Mr. Staats accompanied William Stanton last week to Squirrel Inn, the headquarters of the Arrowhead Mountain Club, and was delighted with the trip and what he saw on the way. The inspection of the carriage road up the mountain, built by the Arrowhead Reservoir Company, was the main object of Mr. Staats's trip, and what he saw convinced him that the carriage road to the top of Mount Wilson is practicable, and can be built at a much smaller expense than the Arrowhead company's road, because there is already a four-foot trail as a foundation and the grade of Mt. Wilson is easier.

The stable of H. M. Singer on California street was burglarized Saturday night to the extent of $20 and a gold watch. No clew to the identity of the thief has been found, though the indications are it was the work of a Chinaman familiar with the place.

REDLANDS.

REDLANDS, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) A petition, numerously signed, will be presented to the Board of Trustees of the Redlands School District, at its meeting to be held this evening. The petition reads as follows. We, the undersigned, voters of Redlands and patrons of the schools, believing that the high standard of our schools can be best mantained by the appointment of a principal who has been tried and 'not found wanting,'

"We would therefore respectfully petition your honorable body to elect Prof. Herbert Patten as such principal."

The present members of the Board of Trustees are L. W. Clark, Dr. U. W. Hill and Prof. T. E. N. Eaton.

A farewell meeting was tendered Lieut. Maupin, of the Salvation Army, at the barracks, Sunday night. During Lieut. Maupin's several months' stay in Redlands he has made many friends and proved himself a zealous worker. He has been appointed to No. 1 of the army corps, Los Angeles, and left today for his new field.

In the case of J. H. French vs. the Crafton Water Company, foreclosure of mechanic's lien, tried in the Superior Court at San Bernardino last Saturday, the lien was declared invalid. T. R. Archer was counsel for the plaintiff, and Charles E. Truesdall for the defendant.

In the case of the Redlands, Lugonia and Crafton Domestic Water Company against the city of Redlands, the third demurrer of City Attorney Bennett was overruled today by Judge Campbell, and the defendant granted twenty days in which to file an answer.

ORANGE COUNTY.

AN IMPORTANT INCREASE OF THE PROPERTY ASSESSMENT.

An Object Lesson of Growing Prosperity—A Young Pedestrian—Odd Fellows' Election—Runaways Enliven the Street—Personals.

SANTA ANA, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) Assessor Frank Vegely has completed the assessment rolls of Orange county for 1895, and they show an increase in every class of property over the assessment for '94. Mr. Vegely had five field deputies, who commenced their duties the first Monday in March, and, in addition to them, six men have been employed in the office doing clerical work. The rolls are in splendid shape, and few people realize the immense amount of work necessary to complete the task. Notwithstanding the heavy shrinkage on sheep, cattle and other classes of personal property, the assessment shows an increase under every head, the total increase in personal property being $90,000, while the total assessment for the county is increased $638,000.

Some of the items presented are as follows: Real estate outside of incorporated cities, 1895, $5,188,070; 1894, $4,893,405; improvements on same, 1895, $825,120; 1894, $701,495; property in cities, 1895, $1,600,410; 1894, $1,541,105; improvements on same, 1895, $1,022,775; 1894, $989,205; personal property, 1895, $1,246,455; 1894, $1,155,680; money and solvent credits, 1895, $172,015; 1894, $135,960.

Of telegraph lines there are 148.90 miles in the county, assessed at $9,125; telephone lines, 25½ miles, assessed at $2120.

The total assessment of the county for 1895 is $10,054,845 against $9,416,850 for 1894.

The result of the assessment has proven conclusively the advantage of field deputies, and shown that the county has lost annually a large amount of taxes on property that was not turned in. Mr. Vegely may well feel proud of the excellent and systematic manner in which his office has been conducted, and the people will not be slow to recognize in him a careful and competent official.

SANTA ANA BREVITIES.

H. Clay Kellogg and bride arrived from the North Saturday evening, spending Sunday with Mr. Kellogg's mother at Anaheim, and arriving at Santa Ana, their future home this (Monday) morning. Mr. Kellogg is our County Surveyor, who astonished his friends so greatly on the 12th of last month by marrying a young lady of his own name at Portland, Or., whom he had never seen. The match came about through a correspondence which was romantically started, and which ended happily for both parties. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg spent about a month in Napa Valley, visiting old friends of the former before proceeding homeward. They are welcome in Santa Ana, although Clay's friends have not yet quite forgiven him for the deception he practiced on them.

(Orange Post:) Alice M. Frazier, Jessie Lotspeich, Alice McCarthy and Grace Conaway were among the graduates from the State Normal School at Los Angeles on Thursday of last week. Two of these, Misses Frazier and McCarthy, are residents of Orange and graduates of our public school. Their friends congratulate them upon successfully finishing their work in the Normal School.

About noon Sunday a young lad giving the name of Fred Danford, and claiming to live at Tustin, passed through Orange. He was walking and said he was on his way to Downey, looking for work. His actions gave rise to the suspicion that the boy was running away from home, but his identity has not yet been learned. The little fellow had plenty of grit, at any rate.

Laurel Encampment, I.O.O.F., elected the following officers Saturday night: B. Uttley, chief patriarch; James Cameron, senior warden; C. D. Overshiner, junior warden; A. B. Thompson, recording scribe; C. McNeil, permanent scribe; C. Miller, treasurer.

Two lively runaways occurred this morning before 7 o'clock, the teams attached to J. P. Brown's milk wagon and George Wilton's ice delivery. Our streets had a rather ice cream aspect for a while, but no damage resulted.

Messrs. E. A. Clampett, A. J. Timmons and Scott & Son of Perris are looking over Santa Ana with a view of investing. Mr. Timmons is a recent arrival from Illinois, and is seeking a location.

SANTA MONICA.

Senator Jones's Grand-daughter—Other Local News Items.

SANTA MONICA, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) A bright little girl baby has arrived at the home of Roy Jones on Ocean avenue, and with both mother and child doing nicely the happy father looks complacently at the world. The little one is the first grand-daughter born to Senator John P. Jones.

Mrs. Eliza Gray died at the home of her son, James Gray, on Sixth street, Saturday evening and was buried yesterday. She was 75 years of age, and since the death of her husband thirty years ago has made her home with her son. Hers is the first death in the household since her husband's decease. She was born in Vermont, was married and lived for twenty-four years in Pennsylvania, and died from the effects of a cancer. Memorial services will be held at the Congregational Church next Sunday morning.

Gen. A. B. Campbell, the well-known G.A.R. orator, has come down to this beach with his wife for the summer. The general and the sea are cronies, and the former thinks seriously of becoming a permanent resident of Santa Monica.

Graders are finding the soil difficult to move in making the new bicycle track on the South Side. It takes eight stout mules to propel the plow. But there is a large force at work and the grading will soon be done. The apparently level area requires a good deal of leveling, and some heavy bulkheads are being put in at the rear; but all the work is being thoroughly done, and we are promised as fine a third-of-a-mile track as exists anywhere. Then wheeling, already a rage among all classes here, is likely to become irrepressibly epidemic, with a roadrace from the city almost any day before breakfast.

A party of well-known Eastern capitalists arrived in Santa Monica Sunday night and spent the night at the Arcadia, going to Los Angeles this morning, but promising to return for another whiff of sea air. The party travels by special car and includes: James B. Clews of the financial firm of Henry Clews & Co., E. Wollmann and Frank M. Brown, New York; R. B. F. Peirce, Indianapolis, and Percival W. St. George, Montreal, Can.

The Good Templars will give another of their popular public sociables at their hall on Tuesday evening of this week. A short programme will be rendered.

Eleanor Connell, assisted by F. W. Biggerstaff and local talent, will give a concert at Hotel Arcadia on Thursday evening of this week.

Today's arrivals at the Arcadia include: Henry Meyer, wife and daughter and Mrs. A. D. Shepard, San Francisco; D. Reedick and wife and Miss Berty Clark, Lincoln, Neb., and Miss Harding, Red Oak, Iowa.

A. Dillon of the canyon, accused of assault by Dan Chamberlin, headed off the hearing of his case this afternoon by pleading guilty and paying a fine of $20. The case against Chamberlin for disturbing the peace, in which Dillon is the complaining witness, is set for hearing Wednesday.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY.

The City is Reveling in Swarms of Strangers.

SAN DIEGO, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) The streets, cars, ferryboats, swimming tanks, sailing and rowboats are full of them—people from almost every Southern California inland town and city. Sweet girls promenade the streets, accompanied by their big brothers, wearing white sombreros. The orange rancher from Redlands and elsewhere swops lies on the hotel porches with the San Diego grower concerning the size, quality and profits of their respective products, while the brass band plays "Annie Rooney" on the Plaza and sets all hearts a-throbbing faster because of the sweet melody. Off in the ocean the barracuda are furnishing anglers rare sport. No wonder the fish are surprised at the number of hooks which are twirled before their eyes and at their rapidly thinning ranks. Tons of these luscious denizens of the bay and ocean have been landed on the decks of sailing craft by the landsmen, some of whom never before caught one of the large gamey "critters." The anglers among the 2200 excursionists who arrived on Saturday can do a powerful lot of fishing, but the barracuda supply is large. There are millions of them yet uncaught. On Tuesday a grand excursion will be tendered the visitors on the steamer Silver Gate. They are busy today viewing the sights at La Jolla, El Cajon, Sweetwater dam and at Tia Juana in Mexico. At Hotel del Coronado on Sunday 2600 visitors enjoyed the music, surf and other pleasures.

A published dispatch from Hannibal, Mo., says: "R. Stillwell has withdrawn the reward of $10,000 offered by him for the murderer or murderers of his father. His action has created a sensation and revived the story of the horrible tragedy that was enacted on the night of December 31, 1887, when the wealthy pork-packer was killed in his own house. It is said Mr. Stillwell no longer has the robbery theory, and he will now follow up a more plausible clew, and will be rewarded for his trouble. Shortly after the murder of Stillwell his widow married Dr. Hearne of this city. They now live at San Diego, Cal."

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

A THEATER FOR ENTERTAINING THE INSANE PATIENTS.

Rational Methods of Treating the Unfortunates—A Report of the Acreage of the County—Taber, the Murderer, Goes North.

SAN BERNARDINO, July 8.—(Regular Correspondence.) The management of the Insane Asylum at Highland believe in giving the inmates as good a time as they can consistent with the necessities of their case. For this purpose they have erected a stage and supplied it with scenery in their large hall, and every week or oftener give the inmates an entertainment of a musical and rhetorical character, with an occasional light comedy, the whole always winding up with a dance in which the inmates are only allowed to participate in the square dances, while the attendants and sometimes a few invited friends amuse the inmates with illustrations of the waltz, polka, schottische or galop, at which they look on with considerable interest, but the instant a square dance is announced they make a rush for partners and it is the rule of the institution that no visitor or attendant is allowed to refuse an invitation from whomsoever it comes. At the musical and literary programme the inmates seem to appreciate the good things and often show much greater taste and judgment in applauding than is sometimes seen at the operahouse or other entertainments among so-called sane persons. Last Saturday evening a programme was arranged in which Miss Alma, daughter of Dr. Campbell, was the principal feature. The excellent orchestra is always an interesting adjunct to the programme and Mr. Reid, the solo violinist, stands very high as an artist. The entire programme is as follows:

Overture, "Salute to Erin," (Lamothe) —Asylum Orchestra.

"Mary's Night Ride," (George W. Cable)—Miss Alma Campbell.

Piano solo, selected—Miss Minnie Dunlap.

Recitation: a—"The Runaways," (James Whitcomb Riley); b—"Little Boy Blue," (Eugene Field)—Miss Alma Campbell.

Violin solo, "Kulaiviak," (Polish,) (Wieniawski)—F. R. Reid, A. J. Kempf accompanist.

"A Second Trial,"—Miss Alma Campbell.

Music, "Skaters' Waltz," (Waldteufel) —Asylum Orchestra.

Recitation: a—"The Child Wife," (Charles Dickens); b—"The Happy Little Cripple," (James W. Riley)—Miss Alma Campbell.

Violin solo, "Theme and Variations," (Strole)—F. R. Reid.

"A Village Gossip," (Kate Douglas Wiggins)—Miss Alma Campbell.

Finale, march, (Sousa)—Asylum Orchestra.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric, Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher. That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

CLASHING OFFICIALS.

DELAY IN EXTRADITING THE MURDERER CARRAZZI.

Nobody Wants to Bear the Expense of Bringing Him to Justice—The Colored Population Very Indignant Over the Matter.

The colored population is greatly wrought up over the delay in bringing to justice the Italian murderer, Giovanni Carrazzi, who is being held for extradition to this State at Newark, N. J. Carrazzi's victim was a colored man named Roy Kenner, an industrious young blacksmith, highly respected by those of his race who knew him. The murderer has been in custody at Newark since July 3, but no officer has left Los Angeles yet with requisition papers to bring him back. The delay is due to a clash between the local authorities, and thereby hangs a tale.

Credit for Carrazzi's capture is due to Chief of Police Glass and his detectives who worked hard and incessantly on the case. The money spent in telegrams alone amounts to a good round sum, to say nothing about the expenses for livery hire, etc., in pursuing the fugitive before he got out of this county. When the Chief learned that the murderer had escaped to the East, he induced the Governor, to offer a reward of $300 for his capture, and in addition to this the Chief offered $50 out of his own pocket as an extra inducement to the detectives in the East to be on the lookout for Carrazzi.

The fugitive was traced to New York city, but as the police department there was torn up at the time by the Lexow investigation, vigilance was relaxed and Carrazzi was allowed to slip through their fingers. Seeing that he could expect no help from that direction, Chief Glass communicated with his personal friend, Detective Bob Pinkerton. The latter went to work on the case and traced the murderer to Newark, N. J., where he was again lost sight of.

Pinkerton, however, enlisted the services of Chief of Police Hopper of Newark, and meantime Glass's detectives were shadowing Mrs. Carrazzi in this city. Finally she started East, her destination being Newark. The date of her departure was promptly wired to Chief Hopper, who detailed officers to meet her on the way and follow her to her destination. Of course, the woman unsuspectingly led the officers to her husband's hiding place, and he was made a prisoner.

Immediately upon the receipt here of the news of Carrazzi's capture, Chief Glass detailed Detective Bradish to go after the prisoner, but then the question of expense arose. The State bears all such expenses, but the money must be advanced by the county or be drawn from some private source, and then it may take two years or more before reimbursement is made by the State. The Chief of Police did not feel that he could afford to advance the money and wait indefinitely for its repayment, so he applied to the County Supervisors. They referred him to the District Attorney. Deputy Holton, who is the legal adviser of the board, refused to recommend that the Supervisors advance the necessary cash. Chief Glass then offered to advance the money himself and turn in an itemized account of the expense of the trip after the murderer was landed here in the County Jail, provided the county would then reimburse him, and await settlement with the State. This proposition was also rejected.

The Sheriff, who usually acts in extradition cases, refuses to go after the man unless he be given credit for the capture, and this the Chief of Police declines to concede.

The District Attorney has had the requisition papers ready since last Saturday evening, but the Chief of Police refuses to send a representative to Newark to serve them, on the ground that he cannot afford to do so at his personal expense.

This is why the colored people are wroth. It was one of their race who was murdered and his blood cries from the ground for vengeance. They feel very sore toward the Supervisors and District Attorney for not authorizing the expense of extradition. Very little criticism of Chief Glass has been heard, because it is conceded that he has done all that can be reasonably expected of him, to bring the murderer to justice. He has even gone to the expense of $21 to bring a witness from the Antelope Valley to make an affidavit in order to satisfy the District Attorney that a conviction of the murderer is possible.

The Chief cites as a precedent that the Supervisors, on advice of Dist-Atty. Dillon, paid Detective Auble's expenses when he brought Embezzler Van Sciever back from Lincoln, Neb. True the State has not yet made up that expense to the county, but it will ultimately, the Chief thinks, and it is but fair that the county and not an individual should be put to the inconvenience of waiting for a settlement.

The colored citizens, it is alleged, have already appointed committees to arrange for an indignation meeting and to formulate some plan of action in regard to the matter.

Meanwhile Carrazzi will languish in a New Jersey jail until the Gordian knot is cut, unless the authorities there tire of boarding him and turn him loose. There is danger also of habeas corpus proceedings, and the murderer may regain his liberty in that manner. Chief Glass says he will never wire for his release.

NEW BAPTIST CHURCH.

Its Organization Was Effected Under Favorable Auspices.

The services at the new Baptist Church in the Harper tract, and Sunday-school on Sunday, were most gratifying. There were eighty two in attendance at the Sunday-school and a large congregation at the morning service, at which Rev. A. P. Graves, D.D., preached. The organization of the church was consummated, with forty-four members, the following being elected as officers: Deacons, T. W. Northrup, R. W. Furbeck, P. B. Chase; clerk, S. G. Long; treasurer, C. O. Morgan.

The officers of the Sunday-school are as follows: Superintendent, Rev. W. W. Tinker (who is in charge of the enterprise at this time;) assistant, R. W. Furbeck; secretary and treasurer, C. O. Morgan.

The services at night crowded the house. Mr. Tinker is now giving a series of stereopticon lectures on the "Life of Christ." Next Sunday night the "Prodigal Son" will be illustrated. These services have proved most attractive to both children and adults.

There is a plan on foot to build immediately the main audience room on the side toward Twenty-ninth street. This was contemplated by Mr. Tinker in the present building, as the side to which the addition is to be made has been built with double girders so that no weakness will result to the roof in removing the north wall and putting in the roller partitions, the design being to throw the two rooms together when needed. The main room will be forty feet square, with a twelve-foot-square tower on the corner, and arranged for a gallery.
